Belle Fourche City & School to Combine Elections

Move seen to improve turnout and save taxpayer dollars.

BEACON STAFF

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE - This year the City of Belle Fourche and the School District will hold their elections on the same day. The combined elections will be held on April 9, 2019, which is currently the date of the regular city election.

According to the city, and agreed upon by the school board, the combined elections are expected to save tax dollars and encourage a better voter turnout for all entities.

Both the city and the school district agree to share the cost of the election as set forth in their agreement. This includes items such as publication of required notices, and salaries and expenses of election boards.

Each government entity will pay the cost of its individually used materials and supplies.

The polling place for the joint election will be the Belle Fourche Community Hall and no rental fee will be charged according to the agreement. Absentee ballots will be available at City Hall and the BF School District Central Office.

In related school board news, voters in the Belle Fourche School District will be electing two board members in the upcoming elections to be held April 9th. Board Members

Roosevelt School a Step Closer to National Designation

Spot on National Registry could come as soon as late February.

BELLE FOURCHE - The Roosevelt School on State Street, now known as the Historic Roosevelt Events Center, is a step closer to being listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

The process to get listed is a lengthy one. But property owners James and Provatia Pietila cleared a major barrier last month as the South Dakota State Historical Society recommended their application be sent forward for approval to Washington D.C. and the national office.

It's taken a year to get this far and the Pietila's are pleased that the application is moving forward.

"We do feel it's very important to be on the National Register of Historic Places (NHRP)," said Provatia. "It's important to preserve this part of our history and the listing will open doors to different grants that could help in the restoration of the center."

The Pietila's plan to renovate as much of the structure as possible for a wide variety of community uses.

"The plan for the building is - main floor, keep it open for public uses, second floor I'd STANDING STRONG - The portion of the school in the foreground was built in 1921 as an addition to the Washington School which was torn down in the 1970's. The remainder of the building was built in 1929 and served as Belle Fourche High School and Middle School until the 1990's.

like to see businesses and retail shops, and third floor long-term, would probably be luxury loft apartments," James said. From the third floor future residents would be able to see the confluence of the Redwater and Belle Fourche Rivers, from which the town gets its name.

"Aside from one or two back yards it's the best view of the forks in town," he said looking out the third floor windows. "Strangely enough, I've done class tours through here with former students and none of them could remember ever looking out the window to see that. The forks were right there," he said with a chuckle.

Already the building houses the Belle Fourche Chamber of Commerce, the monthly La Belle Marche indoor market, a nail salon, roller-skating, parties and various civic group meetings.

At the Jan. 7th city council meeting Mayor Gloria Landphere, a one-time student at the school, offered her congratulations to the Pietila's for moving closer to the national designation. The Mayor read a letter from the SD State Historical Society which said it had approved the nomination after a presentation by Sophia Mattesini during their Dec. 7th meeting. It was a unanimous decision and the nomination comes with the added gravitas of being part of the wider Schools in South Dakota preservation project.

Cold Weather Slows National St. Construction

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE - Work on the 8th Ave. Sanitary Sewer Interceptor Replacement project continues across National Street and along 7th Avenue but the going has been a bit slow.

Workers are digging a 20-foot trench across National Street for the new sewer line but are having to navigate their way around several perpendicular city utility lines.

"We have a gas line, storm sewer, and sewer and water lines that need to be worked around," said Interim City Engineer Steve Nafus. "It gets a little tedious and it makes for slow going. But once they are past National Street it should go much faster.

The new interceptor line will continue south of National Street, along 7th Avenue just past the Hay Creek crossing where it will tie into the existing line. By the time the trenching reaches that location it will only need to be about 8-feet deep according to Nafus.

Brett Olson, Supervisor for Heavy Constructors, the prime contractor on the project, has not offered a revised overall completion date. Cold and unpredictable weather create too many variables to offer a date certain. Crews will be working Saturdays and did work during the holiday earlier this week. But they have also lost two working days due to adverse weather.

"Cold weather just slows things down," Nafus said. "For one thing you have to backfill with dirt that isn't frozen and that's something that needs to be monitored closely."

As work on National Street continues, a 24-hour water shutoff was scheduled for earlier this week. Nafus says there were 2 residents and 1 business affected by the shutoff.

Work on repaving National Street from the Hay Creek culvert towards the west is continuing. Curb and gutter on the north side of the street are in a paving the westbound lane is also complete as of press time. Work on the eastbound lane will be continuing this week.

It is expected that National Street will not reopen until around the first of February.

The $4 million sewer upgrade project began in 2017. Upon completion about 6,500 feet of new sanitary sewer line will have been installed with about 1,200 feet of new water main. Some of the sewer pipe that has been replaced was more than

BOMB SHELTER - Roosevelt owner James Pietila shines a flashlight down one of the underground tunnels designated as a bomb shelter for students during the cold war. Pietila says current Belle Fourche Mayor Gloria Landphere remembers heading down the tunnels during school bomb drills. Just past the chair is an example of the benches used for seating.

NUCLEAR DISCOVERY - Once they took ownership of the Roosevelt, James and his wife Provatia found unopened cold war era survival packs stowed away deep in the school's bomb shelters. Packages contained everything from aromatic absorbents, to eye drops, aspirin, deodorant and scissors put in place in case Belle Fourche fell victim to a nuclear strike. - BF Beacon photos

BH Roundup Planning New Parade Route

BELLE FOURCHE - A record crowd is anticipated for the 2019 Fourth of July Parade during the 100th Black Hills Roundup festivities. And event organizers say that, barring road construction issues, a new and improved parade route is being planned.

According to Mark Leverington, Roundup Parade Chairman, the revised parade route this year will hopefully not be complicated by street construction on 8th Avenue and it will move the parade off Highway 85. "We were strongly encouraged to do that this year and happily so," he said. "I think everyone is really going to like the new parade route this year."

Tough enough to wear pink night returns. More Roundup on A6

Pastor's Perspective

This week's Pastor's Perspective is provided by Pastor Stephen Carson, Connection Church.

Identity?

What is your identity? For some, it may be a sports team or a relationship in your life. Still for others, it may be money or material goods. All of us find our identity in something or someone or both. In Philippians 3, Paul gives us a glimpse into the radical shift that occurred in his life when he met Christ. You can read the account of Paul's conversion in Acts chapter 9, but in Philippians 3, Paul sets forth the good works resume he was trusting in prior to meeting Christ.

In verses 5-6, Paul reveals several items that were so important to him pre-conversion. These things, in essence, were what his identity was wrapped up in. However, when he encountered Jesus on the road to Damascus in Acts chapter 9, his whole life forever changed. His identity forever changed. And, as a result, his mission in life forever changed! In Philippians 3:7, we see the turning point in Paul's life. The passage states, "But whatever gain I had, I counted as loss for the sake of Christ." Do you see the massive shift in Paul's life? Prior to his conversion, Paul was trusting in his own righteousness and his own "spiritual resume" to gain favor with God. After coming to Christ by faith, he understood that all of those things that had consumed him could never give him peace with God. Why? Because Romans 3:20 tells us, "for by works of the Law no human being will be justified in God's sight." In other words, as Ephesians 2:8-9a puts it, it is "by grace you have been saved through faith and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not as a result of works."

So, when Paul trusted in Christ we see a fundamental shift in his identity and mission. For that reason, he wrote in Philippians 3:9 that his desire was to be "found in Him (Christ)."

That idea of being found in Jesus speaks of identity. He didn't want his identity to be in his accomplishments or his own righteousness, but in Jesus. If more Christians would seek Jesus and allow their identity to be in Him, their lives would be far more fruitful and fulfilling, their marriages more rich with fellowship and love, their churches would be far more blessed and effective, and their mission and purpose in life would be so much clearer.

In light of this New Year, I would encourage you to make a commitment to seek Jesus in a fresh way. Read the Bible daily, pray often, find a Bible believing and proclaiming church to become a part of, and find friends who will help you grow in your faith. When your identity is found in the Lord your life will never be the same. You will have clarity, peace, and purpose. Life will still be tough and perplexing at times, but God is good and He will walk with you through the good and bad times in life. May our identities be found in Jesus!

Seek the Lord

By Fay Hersey, Sr. Warden, St. James Episcopal Church

*Seek the Lord when confused
Seek the Lord when ashamed
Seek the Lord when troubled
Seek the Lord when afraid
Seek the Lord when alone, when two or three are gathered,
or in community.
Seeking brings acceptance
Seeking brings repentance
Seeking brings deliverance
Seeking brings mercy
Seeking brings faith, hope, and charity
So,
Be like David and seek the Lord,
Seek Him with a song.
Be like Job and seek the Lord,
Seek Him with a prayer.
Be like Bartimaeus and seek the Lord,
Seek Him with a loud shout.*

*Be like Jesus and seek the Lord,
Seek Him with loud cries and tears.
Seek the Lord with all your heart,
all your might, and all your soul.
Seek God by rebelling
Seek God by questioning
Seek God by petitioning
Seek God by servanthood
Seek God through Jesus.
Seeking the Lord is all about freedom.
Seeking the Lord is all about faith.
Seeking the Lord is all about wisdom gained.
But,
most importantly,
Seeking the Lord is all about Salvation!
Salvation for we sinners here on earth.
Amen.*

Obituaries

Greg Pauley 66

Greg was born to Ezra and Betty (Seitz) Pauley on May 11, 1952, at St. John's Hospital in Rapid City. His childhood was spent outside Vale, on the farm homesteaded by his grandfather, George Seitz. During those years Greg learned about lambing ewes, raising crops, and maintaining a strong work ethic.

Greg attended elementary school in Vale, but his high school years were spent at Newell High School. His favorite extra-curricular activity was debate – a talent he was known to utilize throughout his life, discussing issues with friends and family. One story he loved to tell involved a debate competition in Gillette. Greg and his debate partner, Eddie Hafner, entered the room with a small recipe card holder filled with blank index cards. The Gillette team wheeled in a file cabinet on wheels, filled with current periodicals and other reference materials. To the amazement of the home audience, the Newell team beat the "big city" Gillette team. That sweet victory was savored for many weeks. Greg graduated from Newell High School in 1970.

Greg applied to several colleges, and decided to attend Grinnell College in Grinnell, Iowa, because they offered him the best scholarship and financial aid package. That proved to be a fateful decision; it was at Grinnell that Greg met fellow Political Science major, Amy Hughes. The two became fast friends. Greg graduated in 1974 with a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science. On February 7, 1976, Greg and Amy married in her parents' flower garden, in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. Following the wedding, the couple moved into a cute little farmhouse, located on Greg's parents' farm. For the next 21 years, Greg worked 16-hour days on average, lambing 800-1000 ewes, and raising alfalfa hay, oats, corn, and edible beans.

After many years of trying to start a family, Amy gave birth to their only child, Ethan, on December 9, 1992. Greg jumped into fatherhood feet first! Ethan turned out to be the perfect child for late-in-life parents – low maintenance, but highly entertaining. Greg was immensely proud of Ethan's many accomplishments, but most proud of the good man he became. On May 28, 2016, Ethan married his college sweetheart, Sarah Fisher. Sarah was the daughter Greg never had – he loved her smarts and her sweet, sassy personality.

The wool incentive program ended in 1995, causing Greg to reconsider his life's path. He concluded it would be best for his family if he left farming for a more financially secure career. In 1996, Greg began taking the needed prerequisites for nursing school at Black Hills State College. In 2001, at the age of 49, he graduated from South Dakota State University with his "useful degree" – a Bachelor's Degree in Nursing. The nursing profession was a perfect fit for Greg's nurturing spirit. His first job as a Registered Nurse was in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) at Rapid City Regional Hospital. He loved the babies and enjoyed the tight-knit NICU staff, but was unable to successfully adjust to working 12-hour night shifts and sleeping during the day. As a result, Greg applied for a position at the VA Black Hills Health Care System as the telephone triage RN. He was selected for the job, and so began his VA career. He went on to provide direct patient care to Veterans in the emergency department; function as the facility's Utilization Management RN; and then work as a Health Systems Specialist for VA headquarters.

Gregory Alan Pauley, 66, Vale, passed away in his sleep on January 14, 2019.

Survivors include his mother, Betty; wife, Amy; son, Ethan, and daughter-in-law, Sarah; brother, Randy, and sister-in-law, Pat; brother-in-law, Roger, and sister-in-law, Renee; and numerous cousins, nieces and nephews.

Greg was preceded in death by his father, Ezra.

A memorial service was held at 2:00 p.m. Monday, January 21, 2019, at Believers Fellowship Church in Sturgis. Internment will be held at a later date at the Vale Cemetery.

A memorial gift will be made to the Battle Mountain Humane Society.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.kinkadefunerals.com.

Psalm 119:48-52

I reach out for your commands, which I love, that I may meditate on your decrees. Remember your word to your servant, for you have given me hope. My comfort in my suffering is this: Your promise preserves my life. The arrogant mock me unmercifully, but I do not turn from your law. I remember, LORD, your ancient laws, and I find comfort in them.

Chamber Report
From Chamber Director Gary Wood

Good Day Reader

First, a big thank you to all our renewing Chamber members! The Chamber functions as an independent organization for the businesses of Belle Fourche. We are a member-based organization, not a city department or committee. The city generously funds us so that we can promote business here, but we are like a three-legged stool. Our funds come from memberships, city funding and also fundraising. So thanks to our new and renewing members, the city of Belle Fourche for their support, and you the public for attending our events that provide the third leg of our financial stool, fundraising.

I'm almost to my third anniversary as director of the Chamber. I began my responsibilities on February 1, 2016. It's been an interesting process of learning and a lot of work but I've enjoyed being the director. I've also enjoyed meeting many of you in our community, both citizens and business owners alike. Before becoming the Chamber director, I spent my first eight years in Belle Fourche working from home for a charity. The switch to the Chamber was refreshing after serving in that position for eighteen years. How did I end up in the Chamber? A friend from church told me I should apply, so I contacted then president Mark Reese and the adventure began. My thanks to the board then and now for their help and patience as I learned about being a Chamber director. Many of the board and business people have become good friends. Anniversaries are important things. They are markers that help us evaluate where we've been and where we should be going. My wife Louise and I have been married forty-two years this year. Wow, where we have been and where we are going? Do you take stock of where you've been and where you are going? Are you willing to investigate where you and your business are and where you are going? With the advent of the Internet there is loads of good information out there for us to read, study and apply. I was sent one today as I was writing this article. Check it out. It's a good tool to consider where you've been and are going. The google address is: https://bit.ly/2FFUjUm Also consider the cities opportunity with speaker Bob Prentice and his presentation Attitudes for Excellence. This presentation is Wednesday, February 6th at the BFACC. There are two presentation 9:30am and 12:30pm. For info call the city at 605-723-4046. Have a great week.

Belle Fourche 4-Day School Week Receives Positive Review

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE - The Belle Fourche School District alternative calendar continues to receive positive responses and feedback from the school administration and school board.

At the Monday Jan. 14th school board meeting School Superintendent Dr. Steve Willard conducted a brief review of the calendar with updates relating to data and feedback for the current school year.

Overall the consensus is that the calendar is working.

The district is in its 15th year of a 4-day school week, or an Alternative Calendar as it is known. The reasons why it was implemented during the 2003-2004 school year were listed as; improving attendance, improving the integrity of the school day, more efficient use of the school's budget, better address mandates of the No Child Left Behind act (NCLB), improve student and teacher morale, decrease discipline referrals, allow time for remediation and increase enrollment.

"I would say it is successful since it still achieves the district's initial goals," Dr. Willard told the Beacon. "Plus there are several new positives such as (student's) time for internships."

According to the review, with a four-day school week students have the opportunity to do more interning with employers. This positive was identified in this year's report and duly noted.

For this school year, counting holidays, there will be 30 Fridays without regular school. There will be a total of 166 days in session, 3 parent/teacher conference days and 6.5 professional development days. To make up for having no Fridays, the school day is lengthened Monday-Thursday.

The review states that the school district is saving around $48,000 per year, $29,000 of that due to one custodial position that was not filled. Other cost savings to the district come in the form of lower transportation costs ($4,000), less substitute teacher expense ($12,000) and energy savings ($3,000).

Even with a 4-day school week there are still structured activities on Friday. The school district will continue to have Intersession Fridays which lasts from 8:30am - 11:30am on Fridays when there is no regularly scheduled school. Students may use this time for make-up work, taking tests, ACT/SAT preparation, remediation and educational club meetings. Staff members volunteer to come in and are paid a stipend to work on those mornings. The funding for the stipend comes largely from the 21st Century Grant program. The high school and elementary school is in its second 5-year grant cycle while the middle school is in its third.

The review states several positives about the 4-day week. Among them; test scores have continued to improve, making up of "snow days" is easier, morale is high, more activities have moved to Thursday and Friday nights, long activity road trips result in less school missed, and teachers have more time available to help students individually.

Additionally more school in the region have adopted a 4-day calendar including Newell, Custer, Hot Springs, Philip and Wall. The report states that athletes are making up work missed due to Tuesday activities on Fridays.

From the standpoint of staff the teachers report they are able to do class prep on Friday instead of Saturday or Sunday, allowing them to have a free weekend and they actually feel better prepared for class due to the Friday prep time.

The review of the Alternative Calendar did not include any negatives.

 Senior Rylee Young's 14 points led the Belle Fourche Lady Broncs to a dominating 60-17 victory over Hot Springs on Friday (January 18th) at the Ed Petranek Armory in Belle

"Our press is aggressive up front and we got some turnovers off that early," Belle Fourche head coach Bill Burr said. The Lady Broncs carried a 39-10 lead into halftime and saw lots of younger girls on their roster get meaningful minutes in the second half while extending their lead all the way to the final buzzer.

"Kaylin (Garza) has that great eight-foot jump shot and she can score underneath as well," Burr added. "Hayley (Wilbur) works hard on the bottom and is getting stronger."

While Young was the only Lady Bronc in double digits, junior Harley Fischer added nine points, all in the first half. Garza, a freshman, added eight points while Jensen scored seven.

ROOSEVELT From A1 application, in order to be listed on the National Registry applicants must meet at least one of four main criteria. The first is a property that is associated with events that have made a significant contribution to our history. Second is a property associated with the lives of significant people in our past; third is a property that embodies distinctive characteristics of a type, period or method of construction; fourth is a property that has yielded or is likely to yield information important to our history.

The Roosevelt's application focuses on two of criteria. "We applied as a structure that was important to the history of Belle as this is a major landmark in the town" James said. "And the other (criteria) was people, because we still have so many people in the community who remember having significant events here in this building."

The Roosevelt was built in two phases. The west end of the building was built in 1921 as an addition to the former Washington School. The second addition, which is the majority of the building, was put up in 1929.

A lot of renovation has been done in the past 12 months under Pietila's direction. Most of it having to do with repairs to the roof and the heating system. But a lot more is yet to be done.

"Being listed as an historic site will give us access to grants," James said. "And obviously between the roofing, the interior rehab, the heating, there are so many things we need to do to get the building back to a complete usable state. If we can get access to grant money to pay for half of that, it really makes the project feasible."

Topping Pietila's priority list is to finish repairs to the roof. He says he has three of the five major leaks stopped. After that it's finalizing the rehab of the heating system, of which he has made good progress over the winter. Also on the list is to get the kitchen roof fixed and get the kitchen up and running for use by caterers or for in-house events. Then he says he needs to get the building to a point where it's generating income so rehab can continue.

Now that the application has been sent for review in Washington, Pietila hopes to hear a final determination soon. "Last we heard they are convening in mid-February to review the application," he said. "So by late February we expect to be hearing yeah or nay."

If approved the Roosevelt would be the 37th structure in Butte County listed on the NRHP.

WELL "OILED" BOILER - Building owner James Pietila stands next to one of the two original massive boilers that heat the Roosevelt Center. In the 1920's they required 500 pounds of coal daily on a 10-degree day to heat the school. Today he's converted this boiler to burn waste oil, primarily the oil from cars and trucks after an oil change. Pietila gets the oil locally, the majority of it from Hersurd's. - Beacon photo

Lindstad Alignment: Over Seven Decades

It wouldn't be out of line to say that Wayne Lindstad is a big fish in a little pond. He's known throughout the area not just for the business his father originally started nearly 74 years ago but for the business he himself started not long thereafter. Let's start at the beginning...

Born in Lemmon in 1931, the only son of Lucille and Emil (Lindy) Lindstad, Wayne and his three sisters were raised by parents with a strong work ethic. This was evidenced by their father's own upbringing which found him leaving school after eighth grade and herding sheep for area ranchers. After marrying and starting a family, he hauled coal to area schools and transported fuel from Newcastle and Casper, Wyoming, back to Lemmon.

In the 1940's, the Lindstad family moved to Belle Fourche where they owned, and Lucille operated, the Belle Motel, which the family also called home. Then in 1945 Lindy opened Lindstad Alignment, today the oldest family-owned business still in operation in Belle Fourche.

"I was hunting and fishing all the time back then," Wayne explains while laughingly recounting his abrupt departure from the Belle Fourche High School basketball team when he opted to go rabbit hunting instead of playing in a Friday night game against Newell.

"There were jackrabbits all over the place back then," he explains. "And Sturgis Brothers was offering 15 cents apiece." He and his pals harvested 100! (And the coach kicked him off the team.)

A talented painter, Lucille imbued her children with a love of the arts. For Wayne it was and is music, specifically the trombone.

"Music is my medicine nowadays," he reflects. His seven-piece ensemble, appropriately named the Medicare Swing Band, plays primarily on weekends at area nursing homes.

After his first marriage ended, Wayne reconnected with his high school sweetheart, Teresa Dingeman Comes, who had moved to Oregon. The two married in 1999 and remained in Oregon where Teresa was receiving specialized treatment for a medical condition. For a number of years thereafter, the Lindstads' routine was to spend late summer and early fall in Oregon, then head to Texas to escape the northern winters, returning to South Dakota in the spring until, coming full circle, they returned to Oregon.

Wintering in Texas gave Wayne the opportunity to connect with other musicians to entertain migrating 'snowbirds' with state-specific band music.

"Waltzes for Wisconsinites, polkas for North Dakotans, Latin for Texans," he enumerates, himself a Norwegian by heritage. These winter trips spanned nearly 20 years, when he wasn't tending to his fish. (Some of you more familiar with Wayne might have wondered when we'd finally get to this subject!)

After serving with the Coast Guard from 1951-54, both in New Jersey and on the waters of the Mississippi, Wayne returned to Belle Fourche with a wife and family (that eventually encompassed three daughters and a son) to work with his father at Lindstad Alignment and to realize his passion for fishing by beginning to raise rainbow trout.

What began as a modest enterprise to provide area ranchers with trout for their stock ponds, Lindstad Trout Farm, just a few miles northeast of I-90, Exit 10, in Spearfish, has evolved over its 60+ years, now importing rainbow trout eggs from Idaho, and hatching about 100,000 eggs a year. Wayne works with all the appropriate agencies, including South Dakota Game, Fish and Parks, to ensure the proper paperwork for importation/exportation and health certification.

And as far as Lindstad Alignment is concerned, its management is now in the capable hands of 16-year veteran John Zeestraten, whose father Tom spent 15 years with the business.

Wayne's daughters, Sherry Drolc, Wendy Carr and Sue Cramer, all live in the area while his son, Dean, is in the ministry in Huron. Teresa passed away last year. Sherry and Wendy continue the genera-

ELECTIONS From A1 Kim Brill and Mike Tyndall will see their present 3-year terms expire.

According to the school district, circulation of nominating petitions may begin on January 25th. Petitions may be filed with the district business manager located in the school administration offices at 2305 13th Avenue, between 8:00am and 4:30pm MST. Deadline is February 22nd at 5:00pm. If by mail (registered mail only) not later than Feb. 22nd at 5:00pm.

At the regular school board meeting on Jan. 14th the timetable for the next fiscal year school budget was presented. The proposed budget will be presented to the board at their regular meeting May 14th. The budget will be published along with a notice of hearing the week of May 27th. On June 10th a public hearing on the proposed budget will be held. On July 15th the final budget will be adopted and report of the levy made to the county auditor.

100th Roundup Changes

CONTINUED From A1 Plans call for the 2019 parade lineup to be on 13th Ave. from the Middle School northward toward National Street. The parade route officially will begin at National and Elkhorn St. It will proceed northwest on Elkhorn curving northward onto 10th Ave. then turning west on State Street, and turning south on Eighth Ave. past Herrmann Park and ending at Eighth and National. "We are expecting a huge crowd this year," Leverington said.

As in year's past the parade is scheduled to begin at 10:30am on July 4th and efforts are once again underway to bring about a B1 Bomber flyover to inaugurate the proceedings.

"Tough Enough to Wear Pink" night will be coming to the Roundup in 2019. The promotion which helps raise funds and awareness to fight breast cancer will be on Friday night July 5th. Rodeo staff, fans and contestants are encouraged to wear pink. In the weeks preceding the Roundup, the committee hopes to engage several area business in the promotion with publicity photos and donations leading up to the event.

In other Roundup news, the Miss Black Hills Roundup Queen contest fashion show and speeches will be moved from the AmericInn to the Christian Life Center which will offer more seating. That event will be held on July 1st at 9:30am and the public is invited.

The first specialty act has been signed for 2019. Jason Goodman and "Percheron Thunder" will be performing. Jason, from Ft. Collins, CO, is a Roman rider whose act demonstrates the athleticism and speed of this large breed of draft horses as well as their ability to work together in teams.

As for the new grandstands, Crago reports that the footings have been poured and the steel for the new structure is scheduled to be delivered in mid-March. Construction will follow with the new facility to be ready by around the first of June.

Wayne and daughter Wendy pose below the 8-pound rainbow transplanted from the trout farm and eventually caught in an area stock pond.

tional link, doing the bookwork for the business since learning the ropes as teenagers under their Grandmother Lindstad's tutelage. Wayne can now be found overseeing the hatchery operation, with some outside help, amid the background hum of traffic on Highway 85 to the west. And he often drops by the 5th Avenue business just to check in. There's an old Chinese proverb that goes something like this: 'Give a man a fish and you feed him for a day. Teach a man to fish and you feed him for a lifetime.'

Wayne Lindstad learned to fish...and a lifetime's worth of so much more. And it continues.

Wayne Lindstad is not the only "eagle" eye watching the trout. Lindstad shot this photo of pair of adult eagles near his trout farm

By: Doug Cole

There is an article in this edition of the Beacon regarding the class taking the Belle Fourche Economic Development Corporation's Leadership program.

We attended the session they had last week Wednesday that focused on local, state and regional economic development.

It was very encouraging to see the high level of intelligent, active engagement exhibited by the individuals who are enrolled in the class.

You can rest assured that it bodes well for our future. It was quite apparent that several of our communities "best and brightest" are participating.

They will continue to make a positive difference in our community's future.

The stock show happening, the Super Bowl and Ground Hog day just around the corner, and the appearance of Valentine's Day treats in the stores allows one to give credence to the phrase: "The days are long, but the years are short.

A number of years ago I spent six months of my life selling dead horses.

Don't infer the rendering business, but you should know that having had that experience makes starting a newspaper a pleasant breeze of fresh air.

The job was raising money to pay off the campaign debts of the candidate who lost the race. I referred to it as, "trying to sell a dead horse."

We've been known to tell people that the worst thing that can happen to you in an election is you can win.

That is not entirely true. You can lose and run up a large campaign debt in doing so.

During the race many try to win no matter what it may cost. Once the vote is in and counted, the second place finish doesn't pay very well, nor encourage much of a loyal following.

It is a bit of an understatement to say it wasn't easy finding good reasons to justify why anyone in their right mind would or should donate to the losing candidate after the race is over.

After that experience we feel qualified to offer this advice to future candidates, spouses, and teen agers: "Don't spend money you don't already have in hand."

In the cold part of winter that arrives after the Holidays one could be outside walking and or running for their health.

If the cold air is too much for your lungs to endure, the Belle Fourche Area Community Center offers an indoor solution for exercise. 1111 National Street.

We intend to take up jogging in earnest the first time we see someone running/jogging along with a smile on their face while doing so.

A senior citizen didn't care to join their spouse on a winter cruise, but sincerely stated if they wished to go on the trip it was alright to go without them. After the first few days of separation this text was forwarded to the traveling spouse:

I thought your going on the cruise would be okay, but I want you to know I feel miserable here without you. It's almost like having you here.

Unfinished construction is one of those things that begs an explanation, but no matter what you're told you are not satisfied with the answer. Anonymous: from 8th Ave. homeowner.

After a stay in the hospital the patient returned home. Their spouse was asked if they were "back to normal".

The spouse responded, "we weren't expecting normal. Just hoping for the way they were before going into the hospital."

"Poor Old fool," thought the well-dressed gentleman as he watched an old man fish in a puddle outside a pub. So he invited the old man inside for a drink. As they sipped their whiskeys, the gentleman thought he'd humor the old man and asked, "So how many have you caught today?" The old man replied, "You're the eighth."

From: A Prairie Home Companion

Always wondered how the tale of Paul Bunyan and his blue ox got started, but would guess much like a tale related to me at coffee. So I'm told a cowboy spent the entire day horseback with a GPS in his pocket. End of trailing cattle that day he had traversed 55 miles (all in same pasture).

Also tale of a cowboy slaying enough rattlesnakes in a prairie dog town with the honda end of his lariat to make his shirt pockets bulge with the rattles. Can you visualize the Blue Ox?

Leadership Belle Fourche Building Tomorrow's Leaders

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

With every month that passes David Vandenberg is even more pleased with the decision he made last September. That's when, at the urging of his boss at Ring Container, he signed up for Leadership Belle Fourche, a program facilitated by the Belle Fourche Development Corporation.

"I'm getting so much more out of the program than I thought I was going to," he said. "It's put me in a place where I feel I can have a positive impact on my community."

It's a place that six years ago David would have thought was barely possible. Growing up in Lead, he spent a little time at Black Hills State but ended up working on cars at an auto repair shop in the Northern Hills. He almost felt like his whole life was being lived under the hood, you might say.

"I was tucked away at the body shop and not really getting out or going anywhere," he said. "I decided I needed to make some big life changes and wanted to get back into life and my community."

Then a job opening as a maintenance tech at Ring Container came along. David applied, was given the position, and moved to Belle. When the opportunity to join Leadership Belle Fourche was presented, he didn't hesitate.

"I was trying to figure out how to get involved more in my community," he said. "It's gone beyond what I was expecting."

For Vandenberg it's been an unexpected journey of discovery right in his own backyard. The Leadership class has toured various business, factories and city agencies. It's a journey that has led him to a much deeper appreciation of Belle Fourche.

"I've lived here for so many years and I never realized some of the big businesses that are here; the wool factory, the stockyards. And then to see how big an impact they have on this community, I never expected that," he said. "And just the networking that's being built, is just amazing."

This past Thursday the leadership Belle Fourche class spent the day getting to know the various groups that collaborate to make economic development happen. In a daylong session organized by the Belle Fourche Development Corporation (BFDC) they heard from a wide range of agencies from the state level down to the local development board.

"Before today I had no idea about what it was or how it works," said Spencer Somervold, a Leadership class member who works at Turbiville Industrial Electric. "Now, I have a pretty good outline of what they do. There's a lot more to it and it's very diverse and important."

According to Hollie Stalder, BFDC Executive Director, much of what her organization does flies under the radar. By necessity.

"We deal with a lot of confidential information for local businesses or businesses looking to locate here," she said. "So you don't know much about what's going on until a groundbreaking happens. In reality it may have been 3-to-5 years getting to that point. So to all of my family and friends who attended my 100th Birthday Celebration, sent cards, gifts and flowers. You made my birthday very special.

Thank You

BFHS Senior Awarded Stock Show Scholarship

RAPID CITY - Belle Fourche High School Senior Molly Ryan has been named one of six recipients of a Category I scholarship from the Black Hills Stock Show Foundation (BHSSF).

Each year the BHSSF awards scholarships to graduating seniors across the region. These scholarships are given in five categories with the top category, Category I recipients, being awarded a $4,000 scholarship payable in two segments over two years.

Ryan will be attending Northwestern College after graduating from Belle Fourche High School. Molly is the daughter of Tami and Scott Ryan.

Some of Molly's high school honors are National Honor Society, Character All-Star, three-time SD State High School Rodeo qualifier, and many athletic honors. Molly has been active in soccer, cross country, rodeo, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, math and science club, track, band, 4-H, and youth group. She has helped with food drives, reading to kindergartners, Special Olympics, Western Hills Humane Society, Operation Christmas Child, and several others.

A highlight of Molly's life came last summer when she was able to go on a mission trip to the Ukraine. She wrote in her essay, "Going to the Ukraine allowed me to realize that I am passionate about helping youth." She plans to pursue a degree in a field that will allow her to help children.

help people find the resources they may be looking for."

Kringen and Somervold, like many of their Leadership classmates, are positive about the future of Belle Fourche and have found the class to be better than what they expected.

"I thought it was going to be a 'you need to be a leader and take charge' sort of course," Somervold said. "But this is more of a here's how the community works and ways we can help to make it work together even better."

Stalder says the program is already having an impact. "We have 80-90 percent of our graduates going into leadership roles

And for Vandenberg the irony is not lost. He's been 'under the hood' of his community the past five months, seeing how it works, and that has helped him emerge as a reengaged community spokesperson. "It's helped my confidence level a lot and it's great to be back out dealing with people and getting involved with knowing what my community is all about," he said.

The Good Stuff

by Jim Thompson

Jim Thompson takes motivational stories that listeners and readers send him and incorporates them into the program. It has been on the air for more than 10 years.

See You on the Radio

Written by Charles Osgood

One of my heroes in the media is Charles Osgood. I've had the occasion to have him on my radio show and that even further made me respect him.

This piece will help explain my admiration:

CBS News Sunday Morning Anchor Charles Osgood playfully explains why his catch-phrase, "See you on the radio," still applies to our modern world.

See you on the radio. I say that every week. A peculiar phrase, some people think, for anyone to speak.

I've got a piece of mail or two, up on my office shelf.

Complaining that the sentence seems to contradict itself.

"Dear Mr. Osgood," someone wrote, "That sign off is absurd. Radio is for the ear...the song or spoken word.

The medium for seeing us, without a doubt, TV. We therefore call it video, that's Latin for 'I see.'

So please don't say that any more. You really should know better." That's a gentle paraphrase of what was in this viewer's letter.

"Dear Sir," I then wrote back to him, and this was my reply: I do believe that you are wrong, and let me tell you why.

I've worked some years in radio, and television, too. And though it's paradoxical, it nonetheless is true.

That radio is visual, much more so than TV. And there's plenty of good reason why that paradox should be.

You insist that on the radio there are no pictures there. You say it's only for the ear, but I say au contraire.

There are fascinating pictures on the radio you see, that are far more picturesque than any pictures on TV.

No television set that's made, no screen that you can find, can compare with that of radio: the theatre of the mind.

Where the pictures are so vivid, so spectacular and real, that there isn't any contest, or at least that's how I feel.

The colors are more colorful, the reds and greens and blues. And more vivid yet more subtle than television's hues.

The dimensions of the radio are truly to be treasured, infinite the size of screen diagonally measured.

With resolution so acute, TV can not compare. We can whisper in the listener's ear and take him anywhere.

And you tell me that I cannot see the audience I touch? Let me tell you now a secret... my experience is such.

That although the room I work in may be very plain and small...in a way that's quite miraculous, it isn't small at all.

I am there inside the radio, the one beside the bed. And it's me you hear when it goes off... come on now, sleepyhead.

I can see you in the morning...I can see you coast to coast, as you sip your glass of orange juice and bite into your toast.

I am with you as you brush your teeth and as you shave your face. You may think you are alone, but I am with you everywhere.

And I see the lines of traffic stretching endlessly for miles. Not a hundred or a thousand miles...a million there must be. And I'm riding along with them. This is radio, you see.

And I'm on the Jersey Turnpike, on the Throughway and the Hutch, and the Eisenhower expressway, helping people keep in touch.

And the California freeways, and the Houston traffic funnel. I may lose you for a little while as you go through the tunnel.

But suddenly I'm there again, some episode to tell. To nobody's surprise, because they know me very well.

For my voice is with them every day and when it disappears, they know it comes right back again, it's been that way for years.

I've been riding with them every day for such a long, long time. They are willing to put up with me when I resort to rhyme.

And that may be the ultimate and quintessential test, that proves beyond the slightest doubt that radio is best.

A friend will always stick with you, though your poems may not scan. I'll see you on the radio...I can, you see, I can.

Wind Farm Informational Meeting Friday

CAPTURING THE WIND - Pattern Development will hold a free informational breakfast this Friday about the Willow Creek Wind Farm which they are planning for 20,000 acres NE of Newell. A maximum of 45 turbines, similar to the ones shown, would be built generating 450,000 megawatt hours of electricity annually, enough to power 40,000 homes. -Courtesy photo

NEWELL – Pattern Development, which is the company developing the Willow Creek Wind Farm northeast of Newell, will be holding a free breakfast on Friday, January 25 at the Blue Line Diner in Newell.

The breakfast is one of the many times the business has sponsored a free event to help inform people about the progress of the wind farm and its effect on both landowners and the environment.

The event will run from 7 to 10 a.m. at 121 8th Street right along Highway 212.

“We want everyone to come in and enjoy the free breakfast,” said Dawn Olson, owner of the Blue Line. “They can get all their questions answered.”

Pattern Development has plans to install a maximum of 45 wind turbines on 22,000 acres of private ranch land about 10 miles northeast of Newell. When complete the 2.3 megawatt turbines would collectively generate enough electricity to power 40,000 homes in the upper great plains region. Construction is expected to create up to 175 on-site jobs.

A second wind farm project proposed by Energiekontor U.S. Inc. was presented to the Butte County Commissioners at their last meeting. This proposed project would be built adjacent to the Willow Creek wind farm. It would involve fewer but larger wind turbines.

Newly-Formed Newell Improvement Committee Moving Forward

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL – The newly formed Newell Improvement Committee, made up totally of volunteers, is rolling along and gathering steam. They plan to make physical improvements in the town of Newell and surrounding area. The organization, which is a part of the Newell Community Club, another go-getter organization in the area, has plans for improvements including a splash pad and possible skating rink in one of the city parks.

The idea was approved by the city commission back in October 2018 at their regular meeting, and a core volunteer group gathered shortly after to begin fundraising efforts.

The most recent fund raiser, besides donation buckets in local businesses, was a chili cook-off at the Newell Bar on January 13. The group raised a little over $300 in just three hours to add to their growing funds. The winner of the chili contest was Kurt Olson with his “Smoked Chili.”

Currently they have a Snowman Creation contest located at Howdy’s Newmart in Newell. The entry is free, and can be a Custer boys downed the Irrigators 77-43 Jan. 17.

“It’s a tale of two halves,” said Coach Trev Fiedler. “We didn’t play defense like we needed to.”

Custer went to town in the first quarter with the Wildcats Jace Kelly four treys and two field goals in the period for 17 of their 31 points.

Newell trailed 31-9 at the end of one period of play. Things didn’t go as well in the second period as the home team managed just four points on free throws by Brock Kjellson. Custer led 61-13 at the half.

Newell picked things up in the third period and held the Wildcats to just four points, as their three-point shooters fell cold. Newell put up 18 points up as Payton Burtzclaff hit twice from the three-point arc, as did Kjellson once. The score at the end of three was 65-31, but Custer took home the victory with a score of 77-43. Kjellson had 16 points in the loss.

Newell handled the Hulett Red Devils on Friday night. They started with a commanding lead and never looked back. Newell ended the half up 33-15.

A lot of substitutions from the Newell bench gave less experienced players some time on the floor. Newell outscored the Devils 21-16 in the period and ended with an excellent quarter for Huttson Weeldryer and Kjellson with a total 14 points between them. The score at the end of three was 54-31.

Newell came away with the win, 70-50.

“They sent us to the line a lot at the end, but we missed a lot,” said Fiedler. “But we needed the win and I’m happy with it.”

Newell Lady Irrigators Win Two

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL – Newell Lady Irrigators hosted the Custer Wildcats on Thurs., Jan. 17 and rolled over them 36-23.

“It wasn’t pretty but it was a win,” said Coach Scott Wince.

The first quarter was pretty grim for both teams, with the Cats not scoring at all and Newell putting only two points on the boards. Second period, Custer put in one field goal and three at the line for five while the Lady Gators only managed eight to finish the half 10-5. Newell was up 23-18 at the end of three. Newell matched their third quarter score of 13 and grabbed the victory, 36-23. Kayden Steele was high-point player.

In action Friday against Hulett, the Lady Irrigators took the Red Devils 65-13. Although Coach Wince played the second string for a good chunk of the game, it seemed that the hometown girls were destined to win. They outscored the Wyoming team 28-3 in the first period as the varsity girls built a large lead. In the second period Newell put 14 points on the board while Hulett managed just six, widening the gap to 42-9 at the half.

In the third period it was all JV for Newell and the lead built to 54-10, with Kassidy Weeldryer putting up eight of those points. Wince cleared the bench in the final period but the hometown girls still racked up 11 points to Hulett’s 3 to end the game up 65-13. High score for this game was Weeldryer, with both Lexa Burtzclaff and Steele adding 12.

Gatzkes Give Back

COLEEN BRUNNER

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL – What does the normal person do when they come into some money they didn't expect to get, either through inheritance or a windfall of some other kind? Most go on a spending spree, or do something like travel.

Not Jessica Gatzke. Gatzke's mother, Anita Fetgi, who was killed in a baler accident south of Newell in 2012, left an estate to be processed. Gatzke recently received her inheritance from that estate and, rather than spend it all on herself, found ways to give back to the community, and to kids in particular.

With one water bottle station recently gifted to the school, Gatzke decided that was a good option, as well as a few other gifts.

"I've asked the school to put three more stations in," said Gatzke. "One in the elementary, one in the high school, and one in Austin (Auditorium)."

Then she also made two $500 gifts to the school, one to the library, and one to the art program. But she wasn't done yet. She found there was a need for a new freezer for the 4-H food stand at the fair grounds at Nisland, so she purchased that for the Butte and Lawrence County kids.

Gatzke, who with husband Brandon, and kids Kaylee and James, has lived in the local area since 2014, has been, and continues to be, a positive influence in the community in other ways.

"I have a vendor list from putting together shows, and I just start calling," Gatzke said of how she helps many organizations, such as the Newell Improvement Committee (NIC). Gatzke said people are very generous, especially small business people. She would like to see bigger businesses in the local area step up. But she's not afraid to contact people and ask them to help on her mission of improving the community.

She recently joined the volunteer NIC group, and at her first meeting had a list of nearly 20 donations to a fund raiser the group has planned for the near future, a spaghetti supper/silent and live auction at Dave's Neighborhood Pub in early February. She also encouraged the group to put out even more donation buckets in larger towns.

"I guess I learned this from my mom," said Gatzke of her drive and ambition. "She was always busy. She raised eight foster kids, as well as a semi-load of bucket calves, and went to college at the same time." Gatzke said her mother was instrumental in bringing in the first Belgium Blue Cattle to the local area.

Gatzke has no plans for slowing down. She will remain involved in her community, her church and raising her family.

crafted snowman made from any materials. They are taking entries during this week through Wednesday from 4:30-6 p.m. If you have an entry after that time you can contact a NIC member by private message on Newell Improvement Committee Facebook to make arrangements to enter. You can also respond to our daily posts. Voting will be done by dropping money in the corresponding numbered jar inside the grocery store. The winning entry will receive a $25 Visa gift card.

Also, in the works for a fund raiser, is a spaghetti supper/auction at Dave's Neighborhood Pub in Vale. If anyone would like to help with this project, they can contact Candy Swenby at the bar in Vale.

The NIC group has planned a "Fancy Dinner" for March 2 at city hall. They will be selling tickets to this event, which will also double as recognition for volunteers in the community. The event will include a three-course meal, and possibly a DJ dance to follow. At least one, and possibly three volunteer individuals, organizations, or businesses would be recognized.

The group is working on grants and other fund raisers. If you would like to be involved with this group, contact the Newell Improvement Committee.

Newell School Board

Heating System Needs More Work

Also school board elections coming April 9th, 4 open spots. Principal Jennifer Nehl tenders resignation.

BETTY BRUNER

NEWELL – There are still several issues with the heating system at the Newell School that must be addressed. According to a representative from Johnson Controls, there was a "laundry list" of repairs and adjustments done over the holiday break with more to be done.

At the regular Newell School Board meeting held Mon., Jan. 14, board members learned of another problem that was found during a recent insurance inspection. There are two valves on the propane tank that are missing and out of code. The code was implemented in 2017, either just prior to the installation of the tanks or shortly after installation. The Johnson Controls specialist stated that they are checking the timeline to see if the valves must be replaced. He said it was a grey area and the governing body is trying to determine if the valves are subject to the code.

"We are not refuting anything, just verifying," he said.

If the valves need to be replaced, the work will be done in the summer when the propane tanks are empty and there would be no disruption to classes. It is not a safety issue, he assured the Board, but the code must be followed.

During the holiday break numerous issues were focused on by Johnson Controls. Three pressure regulators were replaced on each of the boilers, the system was cleaned and inspected. A torn coupler was replaced in the Middle School, along with other work throughout the system.

The heating pumps are behaving properly as evidenced by the heat beginning to balance between the buildings.

There was a problem with the boilers at the beginning of 2019, caused by the propane delivery. The isolation valves feeding the vaporizer were closed when the propane was delivered and not closed after the fill. This caused the three boilers to trip off with low gas pressure. The issue was resolved shortly.

A special "Thank You" was given to the Gatzke family for their donations to the school. The family donated three water bottle fountains, a $500 gift card to the library, and a $500 gift card to the Art Department.

Superintendent Robin Dutt reported that Governor Duggard had asked for a 2.2 raise in funding, but Governor Noem is not obligated to assent to that raise.

"We'll have to wait until she has given her budget address," Dutt said.

Superintendent Dutt related another propane issue that occurred during a basketball game. The incident was handled quietly through phone calls to Action Mechanical. Dutt gave kudos to Byron with Action Mechanical for his help late at night.

School board members were also reminded that staff negotiations were coming soon.

"We're getting ready for next year already," Dutt commented.

The school board election will take place April 9. Petitions are available beginning January 25. Deadline for petitions is February 22. There are four open board seats this year.

In other business: -Jo Musumeci was approved as a part-time Special Education Aide.

-Lonnie Johnston and Donnie Decker were approved as Middle School Boys basketball coaches.

-Resignations were accepted from Tyrel Bonnet, Science teacher and Jennifer Nehl, preK-12 principal.

-Three open enrollments were denied because of staffing issues.

-Newell was established as a District ACT test site for Newell students.

-Tonya Mullaney was approved for rehire as Special Education Director.

-Robin Dutt was rehired as Newell School Superintendent.

The next Newell School Board meeting will be February 12 at 6:30 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room.

Newell HS Students Visit State Capital

The Newell Junior and Senior Class loaded the bus at 5:00 am MST and headed to Pierre, SD on Tuesday, January 15, 2019, to visit the Capital. They arrived in time to sit in on a few morning meetings. The students were very interested to hear about some of the issues the Game, Fish and Parks is working on to interest young hunters and trappers. Ryan Brunner with the Commission of School and Public Lands also presented during one of the meetings about the sale or trade of school lands to help raise more money for education.

They were also blessed to get the opportunity to visit with Governor Kristi Noem and Lt. Governor Larry Rhoden as well as take a picture with them on the Capital steps. The Governor and Lt. Governor took the time to visit with the students and tell them about the goals they have set for the future and gave them time to ask questions. They expressed how this is the first time in the history for South Dakota to have a lady Governor and both the Governor and Lt. Governor that have

The students hosted a sack lunch for their local representatives and the Constitutional Officers in the Visitor Center. They took the time out of their day to come and visit with the students during the lunch break about what their job entails and answer any questions the students had. They heard from Steve Barnett, Secretary of State, Jason Ravensborg, Attorney General, Ryan Brunner, Commissioner of School and Public Lands and a

Three Generations of Belle Fourche DAR

Most DAR chapters can boast of having 3 generations of women who belong to this International organization. After all, to belong to the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a woman has to be able to trace her ancestry directly back to a patriot of the Revolutionary War. Very few chapters, however, can say they have 3 generations living in the area of the chapter. The Catherine Thybo chapter in Belle Fourche is proud to be able to say they are one of these few. Karen McKelvie, Katie Satzinger are charter members of the chapter and Gretchen Satzinger all live in Belle Fourche. Gretchen joined the organization when she turned 18 last spring. Their proven Patriot is Ebenezer Adams, born in Braintree, MA in 1737 and was part of the Adams family that includes both Adams presidents. The Catherine Thybo chapter of DAR meet monthly on the 2nd Saturday; next meeting will be held at the St. James Episcopal Fellowship Hall, Feb. 9th, 9:30 am. Interested ladies are welcome.

officials and members of congress. There are now in circulation five kinds of dollar notes, five kinds of $2 bills, six $5, seven $10’s, seven $20’s, six $50’s, six $100’s, four $500’s, five $1,000’s, one $5,000 and two $10,000’s.

Foe Feels Loss of Engines-Delivery of Best Locomotives to Allies Ties Up Berlin Interurban Railway. Berlin, Jan. 20 – Berlin’s interurban railway, according to statements of officials, has found it necessary to suspend operations as a result of the delivery of its best locomotives to the entente powers. It is said that the Berlin railway division has turned over 163 locomotives and that of a total of 896 now in its possession only 484 are in running condition. This number, it is declared, is hardly adequate to carry provisions and coal to Berlin.

Reunion In The Pacific Imagine, if you can, three marines in the southwest Pacific, thousands of miles from Belle Fourche, men who had not seen old friends for months. Then imagine what would happen when one of them steps out on a platform at a New Year’s eve dance, and is recognized by another. The result would be a rag-chewing fest unequalled, and Belle Fourche and population would be the number one topic of conversation. Well, that’s what happened, it was learned in a letter here this week. It was New Year’s eve. A dance was being held somewhere in the Pacific. Capt. Paul Perkovich, former Belle Fourche high school industrial arts instructor, was in the crowd. Another marine – member of the 14-peice band – stepped up to announce a number. That marine was Pfc. Leroy Jacobsen, Belle Fourche, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jacobsen. “Perky” stepped up and the boys shook hands, slapped shoulders. Then Jacobsen disclosed that Duane Pfarr, another Belle Fourche youth, was also in the vicinity. The next day Perky and Jacobsen looked up Pfarr.

Are you interested? Bill Schuft, of the Black Hills Round-Up committee, reported yesterday that the magazine would like a list of names of girl barrel racers from this area who plan to take part in the 1969 50th anniversary Black Hills Round-Up. The magazine, after looking over candidates, will send their own photographer and writer to this area to do an article on the girl select.

Butte Poster Boy Meet Dean Jerald Zimmer, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmer of Belle Fourche. You might call Dean the Butte County March of Dimes poster boy. In the past two years, Dean has undergone surgery five times at the University of Colorado medical center at Denver. He received a muscle transplant on his left arm and two surgeries on each leg to enable him to walk with braces and crutches. BETTY OLSON

The week started out with a temperature of 43 degrees last Sunday. There was heavy fog on Wednesday and Thursday and it snowed on Thursday, Sunday and Monday.

The annual meeting at Slim Buttes Free Lutheran was Sunday afternoon with a potluck dinner after church. Tom Holt and Eric Schuchard are the newly elected members on the church council.

Reub took a bunch of beef and pork scraps over to Jean Akers on Monday to make sausage using the recipe that Jean and Raymond make and he gave them the recipe we use to make our bacon.

I went to RZ Motors in Hettinger on Tuesday to get the oil changed in the pickup. Dorothy Holt is still in the Hettinger hospital, so I visited her and got to talk to Tony and their daughter Wanda too. Dorothy is doing a lot better and we're hoping she'll get to come home soon.

Missy took her mother to Bismarck for a checkup on Wednesday and Reub and I went to Buffalo to see Jacy Buffington to start his physical therapy. While Jacy was working Reub over, I went up to the courthouse and got the licenses for the pickup. Some of the ladies were quilting at the church that day, so I couldn't make it. They plan to quilt this week on Wednesday and Thursday, so if you'd like to join us we usually start about 9:00 in the morning. Come to the church and we'll keep you in stitches!

Thursday, Casey, Taz, Reub and I cut and wrapped beef all day. Reub and I left Taz to grind the hamburger so we could get to Sturgis by 4:00 to watch our grandson Creed play basketball. Creed plays basketball for Gillette and they beat Sturgis pretty good. We sat with Guy and Cass came to watch Creed and Angie and Missy also came to the game. Missy had a NRCA meeting in Belle Fourche that evening and stopped for the game before heading to Belle. Dick and Mary Vliem came to watch their son Jeremy's boy play for Sturgis in the next game, so we got to see them too. A huge crowd came to Buffalo Friday evening for the fundraiser to help with little Susy Meyer's medical expenses. We were lucky enough to get the three items that Bill Holt made and donated. He made a beautiful wall clock out of Boxelder wood, a mirror that he framed using slats cut from cedar posts, and a bowl made with Bittersweet blossoms and berries enclosed in epoxy. Bill also took one of his big wooden bowls up to Gladstone, ND, for the medical fundraiser for Becky's brother on Saturday night. He sure is a talented artist!

On Friday, Bill Vroman was taken by ambulance to the Spearfish hospital. Saturday night I called Jo Vroman to see how he was doing and she told me he was a lot better, but the doctors weren't ready to turn him loose yet.

Our old friend Paul Anderson passed away at 59 on Tuesday after losing his battle with a very aggressive cancer. A large crowd attended Paul's funeral in Hettinger on Saturday at the Assembly of God Church. Rev. Michael Brandt gave the sermon and, although it was a sad occasion, it was nice to see Michael and Colleen again.

Paul's family has our sympathy.

Taz left Saturday morning for the rodeo in Denver and Casey and Missy were in Killdeer at the wrestling tournament with Lanie, Matt and the kids, so Trig came home from Spearfish to do the feeding for us that afternoon. He stopped and had a good visit with us before driving back to college that evening.

Lester and Sharon Longwood hosted the Bible study at their place Sunday evening. Brad and Linda Abelseth are in Arizona so they weren't there, but most of the rest of us that regularly attend were able to make it for a nice evening together.

The government shutdown continues. This a new word that explains it - Governmentium:

"This is the discovery of the heaviest element yet known to science. The new element, Governmentium (Gv) has one neutron, 25 assistant neurons, 85 deputy neurons, and 198 assistant deputy neurons, giving it an atomic mass of 312.

These 312 particles are held together by forces called morons, which are surrounded by vast quantities of lepton-like particles called peons. Since Governmentium has no electrons, it is inert; however, it can be detected, because it impedes every reaction with which it comes into contact.

A minute amount of Governmentium can cause a reaction that would normally take less than a second to from four days to four years to complete. Governmentium has a normal half-life of 2-6 years, it does not decay, but instead undergoes a reorganization in which a portion of the assistant neurons and deputy neurons exchange places. In fact, Governmentium's mass will actually increase over time, since each reorganization will cause more morons to become neurons, forming isadopes.

This characteristic of moron promotion suggests that Governmentium is formed whenever morons reach a critical concentration. This hypothetical quantity is referred to as critical morass. When catalyzed with money, Governmentium becomes Administration, an element that radiates just as much energy as Governmentium since it has half as many peons but twice as many morons."

KAREN ODELL

news@bellefourchebeacon.com
Karen lost a paper last week and, of course, found it after the news was sent, so here is some news a little late, but still good. Diane Wear spent New Year's Eve and Day with the flu. It was not the visitor she had wanted, but she got some rest. She helped several days at Ronda Cordell's. On Thursday, they bang vaccinated. Then, Diane and Clint moved calves to the corner pasture on Friday. Diane worked most evenings at the Over The Edge in Camp Crook. Her cousins Lane and Anne Dingfelder came for an enjoyable visit on Saturday. Erma and Dick Albert have been fighting the cold and sinus infections that have been going around Buffalo. They have been staying home for nearly three weeks, but Erma finally got to the post office and got a few groceries on Friday. Pete Anderson was in Camp Crook on Sunday for church and lunch. Bruce and Lynn Gustafson got back this week from their trip to the South. They drove to Alabama and spent a week with Lynn's mother. The weather was wet, but driving was not bad. They watched the Alabama football game. On their way back, they stopped in Nashville to visit Lynn's step-daughter. They were glad to have Ian and Jenna helping Pete out while they were gone and did not have to worry about anything at home. It was a good trip and they got home before the snowstorm that just hit the Midwest and even to the east coast. Donna Lewis went to Baker for a chiropractor appointment on Tuesday, and she just ended up staying to spend the week up there. She went bowling on Thursday. Then since her grandson Darick Gorder had a birthday this week, she stayed to help celebrate on Friday. It was the same day as Lee's birthday, and Donna had already baked a cake for the event. Darick was their first grandchild and born on Grandpa's birthday. Darick and Michelle have about ten chickens and they producing lots of eggs every day. Donna has been using eggs for lots of things. She knows how to freeze eggs and can scramble a few with a little bit of sugar for using in cakes. Then just freeze them. Of course, you have to know how many eggs are in the package. She says you use a dash of salt instead, with frozen eggs to use for scrambled eggs. We both remember our moms rolling out noodles and then cutting and hanging them around the kitchen to dry. On Monday, Diane Wear drove Ronda Cordell to physical therapy at Buffalo, and then they went on to Bowman for an appointment there. They joined Lane and Anne Dingfelder and Tim and Vivian Pendergrass for coffee before heading home. Charlie Odell came to Ronda's on Tuesday morning to inspect some bred cows. Toney Hannah and Justin Kerr came to help with loading. Dague Trucking and Clint Zolnoski hauled them to Belle Fourche Livestock Exchange for the Thursday sale. Diane came out that evening to spend the night. She and Ronda left very early the next morning for Rapid City where Ronda had doctor and dental appointments. Diane took Ronda to Cristen Westling's. Then, Cristen accompanied Ronda to her appointments and had lunch, before meeting Diane again at Cristen's to head home. On Thursday, Ronda drove herself to Buffalo for her physical therapy appointment. Then she stopped at the Over The Edge for an early supper on her way home. Ronda is keeping very busy running to appointments, doing physical therapy for an hour each day, icing her knee and taking calls. Now she will begin working on income taxes. Charlie Odell inspected cows at Ronda Cordell's on Tuesday. Then on Wednesday he had a doctor's appointment at Ft Meade. He got to visit with Keith Larson in Walmart. He inspected cows for Schell Long Pines on Thursday and again on Friday. On Saturday, he blew out a front tire on the tractor and spent time working on that. Bobby Cordell called to see about hunting coyotes at Capitol, and he got two that day. Karen's brother, Jim and Judy Evans called to remind her to watch the Chiefs play. There was a foot of snow in Kansas City and the stadium looked sparsely occupied, but by game time it was packed. It was still snowing, but they had cleared the stadium and put that snow somewhere. At the end of the game, Uncle Jim was happy because the Chiefs won, but Cody was not happy because his Cowboys lost. Still it was a good season for both teams. We were lucky on Tie Creek and at Capitol. We saw lots of frost on Saturday and Sunday mornings, but no problem with electricity. Both days warmed up, and the frost dropped from the beautiful trees and fences. The fog was thick on Saturday, and stayed for the entire day, so start counting your weeks to prepare for a storm, or at least some moisture. On Sunday, it warmed enough to thaw spots in the ice, leaving bare spots for stepping places and making walking a little less tenuous.

"My family and I have invested in this community for the last 11 years and would like to give back by providing any support we can. I feel I have a good deal of experience within the business world from developing and maintaining programs to working with railroads and other entities to help develop stronger relationships and come to a win-win situation for both parties. I believe we need to have a vision for our community and do what we can to work toward that vision."

numerous community activities. Chad is going on his 11th year as a Commercial/Ag Lender with First Interstate Bank here in Belle Fourche.

Chad looks to his service on the board as a time to be more involved in what is happening in the community and help to make it a better and safer place for him and everyone else to raise their families. "This community has a lot of motivated people who push to make it a better place and I would like to do my part in that."

Brandon Hatling:
Brandon was born and raised in Aberdeen, SD. He attended North Dakota State College of Science. Brandon and his wife, Julie, are raising their family here in Belle Fourche. Julie is the elementary school principal and Brandon works for WBI Energy, Inc. where he has been employed for the last nine years. "My family and I enjoy living in Belle Fourche, and are happy to help serve the community in various ways." Brandon says he would like to see the community develop with jobs and opportunity so that his children can stay and work and live here. "I would like to see the industrial park be utilized to its fullest and help with the great work that the previous members have started."

Marsha Nichols:

been with Black Hills Energy for 15 years serving in roles within Customer Service, Community Affairs, Quality Assurance and most recently, Key Accounts & Business Development for the Northern Hills district. Capital Visit

Representative now Lt. Governor Larry Rhoden spoke with the students about how Government works and answered questions that the students had. Gary Cammack said he was pleasantly surprised at all the great questions they asked. The representatives encouraged the students to apply to be a Page for next year's Legislative Session. Kristie Fiegen encouraged them to learn more about Boys and Girls State and to get involved with this. Following the luncheon they had time to do a short tour of the Capital before sitting in on the afternoon sessions.

Senior Amanda Nehmer said, "I enjoyed the trip to Pierre and learned a lot that I didn't know before. It was very interesting" and Victoria Tucker stated, "I liked going to the capital because I got to see our government in action. It provided a better understanding of what's going on. I enjoyed that our Governor and other state officials took their time to explain their different duties and responsibilities. Overall it was a great experiment". Brandon Grusing's reply was about the same, "I thought the trip was fun and worth it. I learned a lot of new things and liked that we got to see the government in action. It was definitely a new experience. I liked that we got to tour the capital building and would like to go back again when we have more time to take it all in. Overall it was a great experience".

We would also like to invite the public to come out to the Legislative Cracker Barrel that will be held in Newell, SD on Saturday, February 9, 2019, at 10:00 am in the Newell City Hall. You can hear about what is going on in Pierre and take the time to visit with the representatives yourself.

Tri-State Museum Events Feb. 3 & Feb. 17

The Tri-State Museum's Feb. 2nd First Saturday Brunch will feature presenter Mike Runge on the Deadwood Chinatown Dig. Runge is the Archivist and Collections Manager for Deadwood's Historic Preservation Commission. Archaeologists spent four summers on a dig of Deadwood's historic China town and uncovered a trove of artifacts that traced the history of the mining camp's early Asian settlers. Brunch is at 10 a.m. and is $5 per person or free with museum membership. The presentation at 10:30 a.m. is free to all. A rack card with information about all 2019 First Saturday Brunches can be obtained at the Museum and Visitor Center; one can be mailed to you by calling 605-723-1200.

The Museum and Visitor Center's Feb. Family Fun Day will take place on Sun. Feb. 17 at 2 p.m. The day is entitled "Money, Money, Money." Kids who attend will see a short educational film about saving, spending and investing money. There will be a "money booth," where kids can learn to count money, make change and practice money skills. A coin collector will be present to teach about the hobby of coin collecting and show national as well as international coins. There will be a craft activity to make a piggy bank, a drawing for the book "The Everything Kids Money Book," and a free take-home packet with puzzles, quizzes and info about money. Refreshments will be served and attendees are encouraged to visit the museum once the Family Fun Day activities are completed. Admission to the Family Fun Day is $2 per person or free with museum membership. Reservations are encouraged; call 605-723-1200. The Tri-State Museum and Visitor Center is located at 415 Fifth Avenue in Belle Fourche.
