Governor Noem Pays Surprise Visit to Belle Fourche

BEACON STAFF

news@bellefourchebeacon.com

BELLE FOURCHE- South Dakota Gov. Kristi Noem paid a surprise visit to Belle Fourche last Wednesday touring a few local businesses and discussing housing, economic development and COVID with community leaders. The unannounced visit was part of a swing through western South Dakota that saw Gov. Noem visit Buffalo and Bison after her stop in Belle Fourche.

"One of her aides called and told us (late Monday) that they wanted to come out for what they called a meet and greet," said Gloria Landphere, Belle Fourche Mayor. "She was very interested in the things that were germane to Belle Fourche. We had very positive conversations."

The Governor was accompanied by her husband Bryon Noem, Lt. Gov. Larry Rhoden and staff members. Along with the mayor, city leaders that took part in the visit included Hollie Stalder, Executive Director of the Belle Fourche Development Corporation (BFDC), Renae Schaffer, President of the BFDC Board of Directors, and Travis Martin, Ward 2 City Councilman who also serves as the council's liaison to the BFDC.

"South Dakota is real America, and America's center is in Belle Fourche," the Governor posted on Facebook. "It's a beautiful city nestled in the Black Hills. I loved having the opportunity to explore the town and visit some businesses (last Wednesday)."

The assembly gathered for coffee and an informal roundtable at the Wild Magnolia coffee house (formerly Green Bean) on State Street a little after 9am on Wednesday.

"They wanted to hear how things were going within the community," Stalder told the Beacon, "what are some of the needs, how's our technology sitting, how's our sales tax revenue looking, how's our community development going. She was wonderful to talk to, and has a great crew that genuinely listened and that's so refreshing in politics."

Stalder said the governor talked with them about the $1.9 million dollar FRA rail grant to build a new siding at the Industrial and Rail Park. The project is scheduled to finish mid-year 2021, if not before. Stalder said the governor asked about the economic impact the project is likely to have on the city.

"She's very engaged in what's going," Stalder said. "She was aware of a couple of our other projects, and in general just wanted to know how Belle Fourche was going and kind of get a feel for the pulse of business in our community."

The subject of COVID-19 did come up with the governor asking about the local impacts of the virus on the city's population, its economy and how the city has responded to the pandemic.

"I told the governor that when the CDC first came out with their guidelines we had quite a lively discussion at council," Landphere said. "We looked at example ordinances and decided to go the way of a resolution. Those were suggestions and we followed CDC guidelines with that and I think that's the beauty

County Commissioners Approve the Election Vote Count

BELLE FOURCHE - "Dot every I, cross every T," said Butte County Commissioner Karrol Herman, as the commissioners perused the poll books and checked the count, canvassing the votes in the recent election. It took more than half an hour with each commissioner surveying each poll book and signing off on the election count at the meeting on November 5. The meeting date was bumped from Tuesday until Thursday due to the election and the canvassing process.

This year the commissioners were extra careful, looking closely at each poll book and throwing out questions to each other. Finally, the process was finished for this historic election year.

The commission then moved on to other business, including dealing with the pesky task of purchasing a new blade and confirming another to replace one that is within 200 hours of the warranty running out. The blade with will be delivered on Monday is a 143M with a warranty of 9,000 hours over seven years. A balloon payment at the end of that time frame gives the commission the opportunity for a good trade.

"You have till spring to make a decision," said representative Beau Riopel, of Butler Caterpillar, referring to the blade with the warranty which will expire in February. "Caterpillar will have a price increase from the 2019 prices, and confirming this next blade will save an approximate $6,000 if you decide to go with the one in our inventory." The blade has been added to the budget and the commission approved a motion to purchase the new blade with delivery sometime after the first of the year. The new blade would be a 150 and is a 2020 model. No payments would be made on the blade until delivery.

Discussion of the preliminary engineering grant for the Gaver bridge, which has already been received, was discussed and approved for Chairman Stan Harms to sign. Another preliminary engineering grant award for a bridge on Old Highway 212 was also approved.

A discussion time on accepting or denying gravel crushing bids took a great deal of time, as the commissioners continued to wrangle over the low bid from Western Construction. The

Pastor's Perspective

Call to Freedom "serve each other through love." Galatians 5:13

"You were called to freedom, brothers and sisters; only don't let this freedom be an opportunity to indulge your selfish impulses, but serve each other through love." Galatians 5:13 [CEB]

And the winner of the US Presidential race is... some old white guy! Yeah, even though the election is being contested at this writing, the odds of me being correct are hovering around 100%. The more important question for us all is, "So what now?"

As I was hanging up the white church cloths and banners with which we celebrate our "party" days in the Christian church (last week was All Saints' Day), I was thinking about the parallel. Today, I take down the white party colors and put back up the green ones for "ordinary time". It that it? Are we really back to the way it was? Seriously, did nothing change?

But something did change. Last Sunday, on All Saints' Day, we reminded ourselves that God has called all of God's people to be saints—to follow the teachings—and values of Jesus Christ. Last Sunday, in the First Congregational Church, we celebrated the commitment made through the reception of a new member, and the commitment made by the parents and the church in the baptism of a precious infant. During these days after, our entire congregation is different, changed. We are, by a little bit, closer to living as God's saints in our imperfect world.

After the national election we ask, "So what now? Did nothing change?"

Yes. Yes, it did. Once again, we were invited by our government to participate in the government. And it made a difference. Once again, no matter how the results come out, it is clear that we are Americans all, and that our differences are really pretty minor. When someone can be elected by a mere few percentage points, it means we are pretty darn similar. And after the election—however it turns out—our country has been reminded that we are one country: old white guys, women, Latino Americans, native Americans, Asian Americans, Black Americans, and so many others that I couldn't possibly enumerate them all.

The election process did make a difference. It reminded us that we are one people, participating in one electoral process giving voice to all the people. And we are, by a little bit, closer to living as one people in our imperfect world.

Veterans' Day. A day when we remember the lives of those who were and are willing to lay down their lives, so that this country and its electoral process can continue. Veterans who were and are willing to die for all Americans, no matter their gender or race or religion. Veterans who are willing to do this...even to elect—yet again—an old white guy.

Have a great Veterans' Day America!

Keep the Old Time Vibe

SaversMart Under New Ownership
 news@bellefourchebeacon.com

The new owner of SaversMart Thrift Store in Belle Fourche, Kari Hudelson of Piedmont, said she plans to keep things pretty much the way they were, noting that the old-time vibe of thrifting will be very evident in the store's displays.

"I love to thrift shop and I plan to pretty much keep it the same as it was before it closed (earlier in the year," said Hudelson. "When I saw the store was planning to close permanently, I promised myself I was going to do everything I could to reopen."

Hudelson said the only thing she does plan to change is to ramp up the furniture department and offer more and better-quality items.

All accounts that were open and active before the closing are still viable and Hudelson hopes others will bring items in for sale and open new accounts. With that in mind she has added one more collection day, Wednesday, to the former two days the store did previously. Those interested in selling on consignment at the store can bring in one large 13-gallon garbage bag or one big box and three side items, which could be a lamp, or dishes or a large toy or piece of furniture. When the item is sold the consigner receives a portion of the sales price, with prices being marked down on a step basis.

"Right now, everything is at rock-bottom prices," said Hudelson. She said she is trying to Hey Highmark--Question?

Find out answers to things financial: Saving, Spending, Borrowing, etc.

Questions will be answered by staff members of the Belle Fourche Branch of Highmark Credit union. This week's question is being addressed by Highmark's Dawn Pilster. Readers may submit questions to: Kyla Wright at: kyla.wright@highmarkfcu.com. Unless you or someone in your family is or has been a CU member you may not know what a Credit Union is or what it can do for you. Now is your opportunity to find out.

Dawn Pilster

Q. What is GAP insurance, and is it right for me?

A: Great question. "GAP" or guaranteed asset protection insurance is automobile insurance that covers the difference between the total amount of the loan and the value of the car. It provides protection against the worst-case scenario that you total the car (or the vehicle is stolen), and you owe more than it is worth. Your comprehensive insurance coverage will only pay out the value of the car, leaving you on the hook for the remaining interest and finance charges. A dealer may require you to purchase GAP insurance as a condition of financing your purchase. The cost of the insurance is almost always paid up front as part of the financing charges. Highmark is happy to offer you GAP insurance as part of your vehicle loan. Call us if you have questions.

But she is also looking for new items to be brought in as well and potential new customers are encouraged to stop in and look around to see what items they might be able to sell. Hudelson also said she is giving the whole store a good cleaning as well as rearranging areas to make them more appealing. As it is, the store offers everything from clothing, books, toys, kitchen items and furniture to small gift items, jewelry and trinkets. About the only thing that was not evident was much for electronic items.

1957 Broncs Win State Championship

by Sue Broadhurst

The Belle Fourche Broncs won the 1957 state class A championship team. The team had been previously coached by Chuck Girardi, who was Little All-American Basketball player from California State University at Fresno. Chuck graduated from Lead High School and coached basketball in Spearfish before coming to Belle Fourche.

He coached the Broncs for four years before taking a head coaching position at Roosevelt High School in Fresno, CA. He had a 3-year record of 55 wins and 33 losses. His 1954-55 season was 20 wins and 8 losses. In the 1955-56 season the team won 26 games and lost 5. This team placed 3rd at the state tournament that year. Lynn was named honorable mention following that state tournament.

Coach Girardi was an amazing player as well as a coach. He taught the team the sliding man-to-man defense. The opposing team was not able to tell if they were in a zone or man-to-man. The amazing part of the 56-57 season is that they won 27 consecutive games without a loss. Basketball back then had no shot clock and no 3-point line. There were only two divisions, A and B. Rapid City and Sioux Falls had only one high school.

Going into the 1956-1957 season, with a new coach, Lou Graslie, the team started with 10 lettermen. Jerry Lund, Ken Geis and Lynn Broadhurst had started during the previous season. Players for the team include Jerry Lund, Center, Harold Juhala, Center, Bill Green, Guard, Dick Keil, Guard, Lynn Broadhurst, Guard, Don Crabbe, Forward, Howard Hafner, Forward, and Ken Geis, Forward. Also playing were Dennis Wohlhueter, Jack Hantz, Phil Sturdevant, and Darrell Bayer. "Bronc Cagers Set New Records For School" with the following stats.

1. 24 Consecutive wins
2. Broncs scored 1371 points to opponents 958 points for an average of 57.1 points per game with 40.3 points for their opponents.
3. In conference play the Broncs made 1254 points at 57.7 per game and opponents 895 points at a 40.8 average.
4. In the scoring breakdown for the 24 games, the broncs scored 482 of 1138 field goal attempts for 42.4%, an average of 47.4 tries and 20.1 successes per game.
5. There were 310 personal fouls called making it 12.9 per game.

Courtesy of Sue Broadhurst we will be doing an additional follow-up story about Lynn Broadhurst and the Broadhurst family's basketball.

Middle School Students Honor Veterans

Students and teachers at BFMS took advantage of the beautiful weather during the first week of November, holding three of their Veterans Day activities outside. On Wednesday, 11/4, students in 8th grade participated with the Honor Guard for a Flag Retirement Ceremony. The 5th grade students learned about what it means to be a veteran and the origin and meaning of the holiday from VFW member, Nathan Juelfs, who spoke with the class on the west lawn of the school building. On Thursday, 11/5, the 7th grade poetry presenters performed their patriotic pieces for the 4th grade classes outside on the front lawn of South Park Elementary. On Monday, 11/9, the 6th grade students will be learning indoors in the gymnasium about flag etiquette and the White Table. Then the gym will be set up for a dress rehearsal program (for all students and staff) on Tuesday and for the community program (performing students and guests) on Wed. at 2 PM.

"Building Main Street, not Wall Street"

Hope Makes a Poor Business Strategy!

Jim Rohn, once said, "Successful people do what unsuccessful people are not willing to do. Don't wish it was easier, wish you were better". We have all known or been associated with business owners that failed to make it. They had big dreams, great work ethic and small budgets. They hoped word of mouth would spur business growth. They hoped great customer service would set them apart. They hoped they could overcome the poor, yet affordable location. They had a passion for what they do and hoped hard work and a stick to it attitude would overcome all the normal obstacles normally encountered. But when the dust settled, they learned through the school of hard knocks that hope really does make a very poor business strategy, and it takes far more than hard work and perseverance to succeed.

John Newby

have embraced this concept from the top down. They would never consider a government purchase outside of the boundaries of their community before exploring all hyper-local options. Every tax dollar kept local benefits the city many times over.

Secondly, they will create networks aiding and supporting local business development. The more diverse the local business community, the more it conveys the vibrancy needed to foster further growth. We all want large employers or manufacturers to come to town, but the reality is communities can have equal results one new local business at a time. Ten new local businesses opening yearly with five employees, equals one 250 employee business moving to town every five years. Additionally, local businesses need fewer tax breaks, fewer amenities and are more active in the community.

Thirdly, communities can work with local businesses to meet some of the local demands not currently filled by local businesses. Helping to support local steakhouses, entertainment, various retail or services are great starts. It is true some businesses may not make sense for every community, but knowing the kinds of local businesses you need can be helpful as you seek to expand your community. Often times community leaders seek out national chains because of their track record of success to fulfill their needs. Doing this comes at the expense of your local entrepreneurs that are more than able to fulfill those needs with a little push and assistance to meet those same demands.

Lastly, we've mentioned on more than one occasion that developing the tourist mentality is critical. Most communities have the ability to create or attract tourist type events and destinations that can succeed. Communities must look at each new tourist as $1000 walking into your community. Look at each hundred as $100,000 walking into your community. Communities often overlook the most basic and logical way to foster growth and development. A community need not be New York, Chicago, Branson or the host spring training of MLB to draw tourism. In today's world where tourists are staying closer to home, tourists seek out unique attractions, unique events, unique downtowns, unique retail experiences and in short – something different or outside of the norm. Find your niche, build upon it and then let the world know. You will be amazed!

These certainly aren't the only things a community can do to battle the economic woes so many small and mid-sized communities experience. But these are some basic ideas every community can start building their foundation with. Communities doing all the above and also those local things unique to them and their area will find a way. They will find a way because doing all the above items show that they are willing to do what it takes to win. Make no mistake, this is a high stakes competition, there are winners and there are losers – which side will your community line up on?

John A. Newby, author of the "Building Main Street, Not Wall Street" column assists communities and their local media companies combine synergies allowing them to not just survive, but thrive in a world where truly-local is lost to Amazon, Wall Street chains and others. His email at: john@360MediaAlliance.net.

It isn't the community's job to assure all new businesses succeed, after all, many new businesses lack many of the skillsets and funds needed before they get started. It is however in a community's best interest to provide the winning business climate and support network that increases the odds of success for new or expanding business owners. Expanding and forward-thinking communities understand this very well. What are some of those best practices that communities can employ to further create an innovative and entrepreneurial mindset throughout their community?

First and foremost, foster a hyper-local state of mind throughout the community. Forward-thinking communities

Well, of this writing CBS News and other media outlets have declared Joe Biden the winner of the 2020 Presidential Race.

Final tally of votes are being counted in three states with no change in outcome expected.

In an election that has been unlike any in the history of our country you would like to think votes are counted; the winner is declared; and the country and our government move ahead doing the peoples business.

It looks like only time and an anticipated legal squabble will tell.

I do wish the politicians and pundits could put as much effort and energy into dealing with the cattle market and prices of agriculture commodities as they do into fighting battles to get elected.

As someone who grew into teenage years in the late 60's and early 70's I didn't think I'd ever see the state of South Dakota legalize marijuana.

I put it into a class much like alcohol and legalized gambling.

I don't personally believe any "good" from them can ever outweigh the harm it can do in peoples lives.

With gambling we've commented that if all the revenues, I believe some $115 million plus only came from the top 1/3 of the economic scale it is still not a good thing.

Brazile Captures 8th Career Steer Roping Gold Buckle

Hermosa's Jess Tierney finishes 5th.

MULVANE, Kan. – The $7-million cowboy Trevor Brazile became an eight-time steer roping world champion in dramatic fashion Saturday night.

Brazile needed to rope a steer in Round 10 to win the world title and the average – and that's exactly what he did like he's done so many times before in his legendary career.

The Decatur, Texas, cowboy clocked a 12.4-second time in Round 10 to win his record 26th career gold buckle at the 2020 Clem McSpadden National Finals Steer Roping at the Kansas Star Arena.

Outside of Brazile, Jesse Tierney of Hermosa, SD, had a memorable Saturday, splitting the Round 6 win and claiming the Round 7, 8 and 9 titles outright a day after he didn't earn any money in the first five rounds.

"This felt outstanding," Tierney said. "(Friday night) was a real humbling night. I drew some good cattle (Saturday night) and just focused on what I know how to do, and it felt really good to have that kind of success. Winning one round is an honor, winning four is something I never dreamed of."

Brazile finished with $117,459 in the PRCA | RAM World Standings to edge runner-up Scott Snedecor's $110,779. Brazile earned $69,072 at the NFSR.

"If you don't go do your job and you don't execute, somebody else is the world champ," said Brazile, 43. "Once they told me what I was doing, that was it. I just went and made my run. This is awesome. I want everybody to know that my thanks goes to my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. He blessed me so much. I'm just thankful for the opportunity and the blessings that have come my way, and we were able to capitalize on this."

Brazile placed in six rounds at the NFSR and won the average with a time of 124.5 seconds on 10 head to capture his eighth steer roping gold buckle to go with the ones he won in 2006-07, 2011, 2013-15 and 2019.

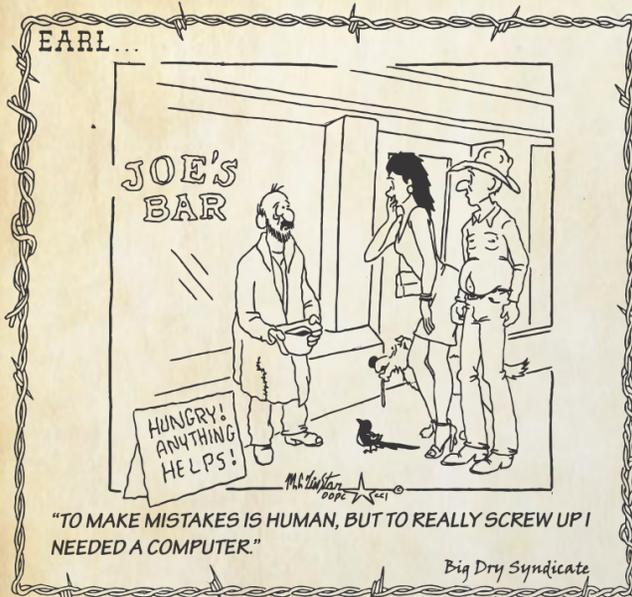

Brazile's eight steer roping gold buckles are second on the all-time list behind only ProRodeo Hall of Famer Guy Allen's 18.

When Brazile, the last cowboy to compete, roped his steer in 12.4 seconds in Round 10, it gave him the average win because he was the only competitor to tie down 10, and that in turn clinched his world championship.

The Good Stuff

by Jim Thompson

Jim Thompson takes motivational stories that listeners and readers send him and incorporates them into the program. It has been on the air for more than 10 years.

Success by Bessie Anderson Stanley was Written in 1905. It was the prize winning submission for an essay contest answering the question, "What constitutes success?". Often mis-attributed to Ralph Waldo Emerson and Robert Louis Stevenson, researchers have confirmed that Ms. Stanley is the original author. The poem appears on her headstone in the Lincoln, Kansas cemetery.

Success

He has achieved success
who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much;

Who has enjoyed the trust of pure women,

The respect of intelligent men and the love of little children;

Who has filled his niche and accomplished
his task;

Who has left the world better than he found it.

Whether by an improved poppy,
a perfect poem or a rescued soul;

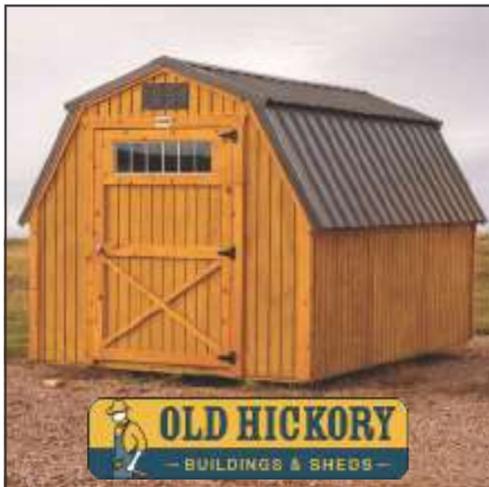

Who has never lacked appreciation of Earth's beauty or failed to express it;

Who has always looked for the best in others and given them the best he had;

Whose life was an inspiration;
whose memory a benediction.

Now, what might you add to "success"?

The Good Stuff was developed for radio by Jim Thompson nearly 2 decades ago. The Beacon is the only newspaper that it appears in. You can hear The Good Stuff in the Northern Black Hills on KBHB Sturgis, 810AM each weekday morning at 9:30. Or go online to KNKL.org each Monday through Saturday morning at 9:00

That became a reality when Scott Snedecor, a four-time world champ (2005, 2008 and 2017-18) registered a no time in the final round.

Snedecor roped right before Brazile, and when Snedecor came up empty it changed Brazile's game plan.

Entering Round 10, Brazile was holding a slim $1,965 lead in the world standings over Snedecor. Brazile also was sitting second in the average, 1.2 seconds behind Snedecor.

"Scott had a steer they had been 9 seconds on, and I had a steer they had been three-tenths longer on in 10, so I was prepared for almost every scenario but that," Brazile said. "He's roped his butt off all weekend, and my hat's off to him. He pushed me as hard as anybody has ever pushed. It is one of those things where I can never let off because he doesn't. He's a great competitor. I was mentally preparing myself to have to be eight seconds. It was a huge difference in the shuffle of the cards right there."

Snedecor was second in the average with a 110.9-second time on nine.

The average played the final factor in deciding the world champion because it paid six places – $27,347 for the winner, $22,632 for second, $17,917 for third, $13,202 for fourth, $8,487 for fifth and $4,715 for sixth. The round win paid $9,155.

Snedecor was trying to digest how things unfolded in Round 10.

"I think the steer was a little slow leaving out of there and I might have slowed up too much," Snedecor said. "The horse kind of quit me a little early maybe and the steer just rolled over and got up. I felt like I rode good and scored good and got out and had it on him to tie him fast, but it just wasn't my turn."

"I did my part I felt like for 10 steers. I scored and rode good, and it all felt good. I just got out-roped a little bit. Trevor earned it. He roped better than I did for 10 steers. We go lots of miles and it comes down to one steer at the end of the deal. It's all good fun. I still got out of there with good money and I was glad to see him win another championship."

Brazile, who was riding Salty, 19, a horse loaned to him by fellow steer roper John Bland, has won the NFSR average five times – 2012, 2014-15, 2019-20. He entered his 23rd NFSR $12,865 away from reaching the $7 million mark in career earnings – no one else has broken $3.6 million in ProRodeo.

By Round 4 Friday, Brazile reached and passed the milestone by earning $7,577 after placing second with a 9.3-second run. Brazile won Round 3 with a 9.9-second run extending his PRCA record to 74 career total round wins at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo – in tie-down roping and team roping – and steer roping.

Brazile has won 36 rounds at the NFSR, second only to Allen's 48.

Brazile's 26 gold buckles are a PRCA-record 14 in all-around (2002-04, 2006-15, 2018), three in tie-down roping (2007, 2009-10) and one in team roping (2010) to go with the NFSR buckles.

Before the start of the 2018 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, Brazile announced that season was going to be the final one for him rodeoing full time so he could spend more time with his family – wife, Shada; son, Treston; and daughters, Style and Swayzi.

"I told them I wasn't going to steer rope much next year," Brazile said. "I only went to 20 this year, but I'm not even going to do that next year. I probably will not even go to enough to make the (NFSR), so this is a good way to leave here for me."

KAREN ODELL
news@bellefourchebeacon.com

Ronda Cordell got chores done by 6:30 Monday, and headed to Belle Fourche to get Pup to the Belle Fourche Vet Clinic for a checkup. She went on to Spearfish, and loaded up on groceries. When she got home, she made cinnamon rolls to take to Justin Kerr's shipping on Tuesday. Clint Zolnoski helped Justin ship on Tuesday. Ronda air sealed and froze elk meat, and put some in brine for making pastrami. The kitties were happy to get the scraps. Denise Zolnoski and the girls went to Bowman, on Tuesday, for Denise's blood work. Gene Secrest came to Zolnoski's, on Wednesday, to help get ready for shipping. The next day, they all got pairs in at the Desert to wear caves. Tod Dague came on his return trip from Belle Fourche, and hauled a load of calves to the home corrals. The guys hauled the remaining ones. Clint and Gene helped Doug and Julia Davis ship on Friday. Ronda, Clint and Gene trailed pairs home from the School Section at the Buck ranch on Saturday. After the dense fog lifted, the day turned into an amazingly beautiful day. Sunday was a much different day. There was a nasty wind with snow flurries, off and on. Clint and Gene helped Alvin and Marlee Cordell ship on Sunday. The thermometer was in the twenties much of the day and down to eighteen by evening.

Dick and Erma Albert continued their physical therapy on Monday and Thursday. They went to Rapid City, on Wednesday, to get a filter for filtering their water. Jack Ovitz came the next day, to help them install the filter into the system. On Friday, Dick and Erma went to the Betty Loken funeral in Camp Crook. Somehow the filter was not working right in their water system, so Jack came again after the funeral to have a look. After a phone call to a technician, they figured out what was wrong, and got everything working. Dick and Erma went to mass on Sunday, at the Catholic Church, and stayed for the soup dinner. Then, they stayed for the Bible study in the afternoon.

Alvin and Marlee Cordell have pretty much recovered from the virus. Marlee suggests that anyone with chest pain should go and get medication as soon as possible, because that helped her right away. On Friday, they went to the Betty Loken funeral at Camp Crook.

The views and opinions expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of the Belle Fourche Beacon or its staff.

Then, Sunday was shipping day, and they spent the morning hauling and shipping cattle.

Bruce and Lynn Gustafson were at the Little Missouri Church dinner on Sunday afternoon, at the Camp Crook Community Hall. Justin Kerr also attended the church dinner

Donna Lewis made at trip to Billings, on Tuesday. She stayed with her brother, Jerry and LaRae Collins, until Thursday. Then, since the weather was nice, she came all the way home, and got her groceries put away. Dusty and Sara Gorder came out to hunt, but nothing was out and about that day. Darick Gorder is coaching girls wrestling at Baker, and took his daughter, Jayce and another Baker girl to a wrestling meet in Rapid City on Saturday. Darick had experience wrestling in state and national competitions and later in Germany and other countries. Gary and Frank came out this week to bring salt and mineral to the cows.

Alex Moncur got the sad news that his great-uncle, Duane Olson, had passed away at the Billings hospital. Duane was Leone's brother and had grown up at Gustave, and attended high school in Belle Fourche. The Moncurs are getting ready for preg-testing on Monday.

Charlie Odell inspected cows for Justin Kerr on Tuesday. That afternoon he went to Spearfish for supplies. On Wednesday, he went to Buffalo Hardware to get some more log siding for Karen. He inspected for the Paddens on Thursday morning; and for Murray Rolph on Thursday afternoon. He hauled cows home from Capitol, on Friday. Daniel and Nathan Kalbach's dog came to help Charlie corral the cows, and he was a good helper. A cow decided to kick him in the knee (Charlie, not the dog). Charlie had just gotten the knee drained a couple of weeks ago, and now it is swollen up again. He hauled cows again on Saturday, while Karen (and her dog) continued work on the little cabin. On Sunday morning in a cold mist, Charlie inspected cows for Ryan Cordell, Wade Pearson, and Kent Williams. He picked up lunch at the Over The Edge. For Karen's birthday, they went out for supper at the Camp Crook Community Hall, where Little Missouri Lutheran Church was having their church dinner. Karen talked to her brothers, Jim and Judy Evans in Kansas City, and Ron and Patsy Evans in Ada, Ohio. Murphy, Micki, Kyia and Mollie called to sing 'Happy Birthday' from Minneapolis and Tacoma.

It was good to hear everyone's voices this week, and Karen was glad for the conversations. Here is a quote from Benjamin Franklin. "The U S Constitution doesn't guarantee happiness; only the pursuit of happiness. You have to run it down yourself."

Shipping Time

This time of the year is shipping time.. Yeah, not many outside of the livestock business, rancher, cowboys and the ilk, quite understand that. But this is when most of the years hard work and sweat are shipped off to the sale barn or feed lot, depending on how the ranch runs their outfit. And that is the years paycheck, more or less.. most years , less, it seems.

One of my favorite times of the year. Lots of mornings your saddling up while it is still dark, loading a horse into a trailer and headed for a neighbors to help them. Some days, like today was, are wonderful. Plumb quiet. Working with good friends and neighbors. Not too cool, but brisk. Your horse has a little bounce to his step. And if your like me, you pick one out who doesn't have too much bounce! Them young fellers relish a little tightness in their old pony and maybe a few quick jumps when they first get on. If I could stay on one when he did that, I would relish it too!

By the time we got back to the pens it was starting to warm up. Jackets and sweaters were pulled off and many were used as an aid to move cattle. All the crew had worked together quite a lot in the past few years, everybody pretty much knew the job they were to do, tho' out of politeness, you still ask the boss or owner what they want you to do. We had a good set of pens with an alley way and lots of pens and gates and they just flowed thru'.

It is cool to me, to watch the passing of the mantle. Usually at this place, a neighbor and I are the two guys who bring the cattle into the alley way to be sorted. We do our best, with out slowing things down, to bring mostly cows or mostly calves. Today we had two young cowboys helping. About 8 or 9 years old I suppose. They were mounted on good, broke, cowy horses. They took our job and we got either demoted or promoted, depending on how you want to look at it. Them two did a bang up job and kept us with cattle to sort with hardly any waiting time. That is cool, to me. A few years and watch out, they are going to tear the world apart, the way they are going.

Another thing I like about this time of year, by and large the yearlings and calves are fat and sleek. Who doesn't like fat calves? Not hog fat, just good fat. I have noticed most cowboys like things with some fat on them. Like horses. And cows. Fat is a good color, is an old expression.

And their women. Yup, I said it. Most cowboys and ranchers, especially, like to see something that looks healthy. And skinny don't look healthy. All these half starved females sure don't appeal to me or most I know. I don't like seeing anything doing poorly and them females look poorly to me. The fashion industry and movies and TV have promoted these skinny women. Well, maybe some people like them, but they must live where there ain't no cows or horses. Give me a woman with some meat on her bones and a figure. Heck, I bet them skinny woman can't even cook good!

If you call the paper, they have my number. If you want to call and complain. I don't mind. I don't get that many phone calls anyway! Long live the traditions we hold dear! And there ain't nothing wrong with a little fat!

Deer Hunters in Central South Dakota May Return Licenses Due to Disease Outbreak

PIERRE, S.D. – Due to an outbreak of epizootic hemorrhagic disease (EHD) the South Dakota Game, Fish and Parks (GFP) is offering hunters in Aurora, Faulk, Hand, Hughes, Hyde, Jerauld, Potter and Sully counties the opportunity to voluntarily return their deer licenses.

License returns are being accepted for East River Deer tags only, from the above listed hunting units and do not apply to archery, apprentice, mentored, or muzzleloader licenses. If you hunt private land, it can be helpful to contact the landowner for more information on local conditions before making a decision about returning your tag.

This disease is common in white-tailed deer and is typically detected in late summer or early fall. Minor deer losses to EHD can occur in any given year in South Dakota, but weather and habitat conditions will dictate the severity of the disease. EHD is not infectious to humans. For more information on the EHD virus visit gfp.sd.gov/epizootic-hemorrhagic-disease.

Any hunter voluntarily returning their license will receive a full refund and retain their preference point for any licenses returned. Licenses returned to GFP will not be reallocated. EHD outbreaks can be locally severe, but rarely affect a high proportion of the deer population in a management unit. In 2016, the disease affected deer populations in certain areas of eastern South Dakota and license adjustments were made in some management units due to these unforeseen mortality events. Deer can continue to succumb to this disease until a hard freeze reduces the midge populations that carry the disease.

Licenses should be sent to: GFP Licensing Office, 20641 SD Hwy 1806, Fort Pierre, SD 57532.

Individuals should include a note saying they are wanting a refund on the included license.

GFP's Jake Davis Named Fisheries Biologist of the Year

PIERRE, S.D. - Jake Davis, a western South Dakota fisheries supervisor for Game, Fish and Parks (GFP), was recently selected as the Midwest Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (MAFWA) Fisheries Biologist of the Year. MAFWA is an organization of 13 states and three provincial midwest fish and wildlife agencies.

"Jake's ability to develop and maintain working relationships with government agencies, university researchers, surface water users, and the angling and boating public has resulted in some dramatic changes in fisheries management and angler satisfaction, particularly in the Black Hills," said John Lott, aquatics section chief for GFP.

Davis has worked with hatcheries to increase return of stocked trout to anglers in the Black Hills, as well as making efforts to improve habitat and flows for trout in Rapid Creek.

"His collaborative approach to addressing fisheries management needs and his focus on accomplishing the top priorities for the Black Hills and western South Dakota fisheries have contributed to Jake's success," said Lott. Davis, who is stationed in

Jake Davis

Rapid City, has served as the area fisheries supervisor since 2015.

Lynn would like to thank all the teachers and kids who helped give Nila purpose in her career as an educator! She loved then dearly. To the ones who gave memorial funds at her funeral, this is the results of your care and generosity!! God Bless.

"Nila's gifts are already bearing fruit. Belle Fourche School Counselor Tina Rosenkranz commented, "During our Social Skills class we discuss the use of the Buddy Bench, which is a place for students to sit when they are looking for a friend during recess to play with or just talk to. When a child sits on the bench that is a signal a child is in need. The goal is to promote friendship building."

Elementary Principal Julie Hatling went on to say, "I appreciate Lynn and the time he has put in to make this buddy bench a reality in Nila's memory. The students have already started using the bench, and it has been rewarding for us to see this happening on our playground."

From all of us at South Park, Thank You!

BFACC Sees Name Change and a New Logo

BELLE FOURCHE - The Belle Fourche Area Community Center will be renamed as the Belle Fourche Rec Center. As part of the rebranding strategy by Director Nate Velander the center will also be getting a new logo.

Velander assumed his post as new director of the BFACC in early 2020 and set about seeking input from business leaders and rec center members regarding changes at the center. The name change was seen as a way of aligning the name on the building with what most citizens and members already call it, the Belle Fourche Rec Center.

At the city council's regular meeting on Nov. 2nd, held via Zoom call, the council voted 6-to-2 to approve the name change. The nay votes came from Ward 1 Councilman Monte Talkington and Ward 4 Councilman Vern Hintz.

"As I have said before I'm gonna stick with my previous complaint that (the name) does not have Area, Belle Fourche Area in the name, so I will not support it," Hintz told the council.

"I'm going with Vern for the reason that I've had people tell me that it's not necessary," Talkington added.

Along with the name change will come a new logo design for the center, designed by Deb Elliott of Life Light Creative. The logo includes a compass motif, suggestive of the city's heritage as the center of the nation. Within the compass are a variety of activities depicted at the center, including swimming, fitness, basketball and drama. The word "Rec" is featured prominently in a script style with Belle Fourche and Center framing it.

The council also approved 6-to-2 an appropriation in the amount of $2,800 for a new sign to be placed on the front façade of the Rec Center's south side. The approved quote came from Sign Guys- Mountain Metal Art of Belle Fourche and includes creation and installation of the sign. It will be placed in the approximate location of the existing sign within the next few weeks.

In his monthly report to the council Velander also mentioned that his staff continues to monitor increasing COVID-19 cases and the impact they may have on building protocols, programs, and upcoming events. Other tasks being worked on are: Staff training, filling open positions, Corporate Membership Program outreach, scheduling dates with ABC for auditorium usage, scheduling dates with indoor soccer for gym usage, surveying the public to see what they want offered at the center, evaluation of administrative processes to create a culture of efficiency, and learning the Pump Room and Pool Operations. According to the report dates for CPR and First Aid Classes are November 16th and 17th from 5:30 P.M. to 7:00 P.M.

of living here.” They also discussed with the governor the number of coronavirus cases in Butte County and what concerns there may be in addition to how local entities are applying the CARES Act funding.

On the topic of housing the conversation turned to how much increased level of interest there is in the state since South Dakota decided to remain an open and free state during the pandemic.

“I’ve seen more interest as far as housing and developments right now than I’ve seen in probably 12 years,” said Martin who is also Title Operations Manager at the Belle Fourche office of Black Hills Title. “Property is definitely selling. If you talked to other realtors they’d say the same thing. We have very limited property right now. We touched on that with the governor. “We’ve got a housing study that we’re going to be working on shortly and what that’s probably going to show is that we have a need in every category; multi-family, townhome, single family, affordable housing, work force housing.

“I think we’ve reached a point in Belle Fourche where we need houses, we need some more development,” Martin said.

The “Open for Business” national media campaign that the State has been running during the late summer and fall also came up. “We touched on that with Governor Noem briefly,” Martin said. “We’re definitely seeing an influx of people into South Dakota in our area and if we’re seeing it here I’m sure they’re seeing it statewide and the governor said they were.”

After coffee the group walked further downtown and stopped at Designs by Daphne Gallery. While Noem engaged owner

Daphne Johnson in conversation, one of her aides made a purchase. Lt. Gov. Rhoden said he would return soon to do some more shopping in the city.

“It was very much an honor to have the Governor here,” Johnson said. “She talked about the store and asked how long I’d been here and why we decided to open up a store in Belle. She was asking about a lot of pieces and how they were made. She was very generous to spend so much of her valuable time here and we thanked her for that.”

Johnson, who once was the Assistant Attorney General for the state of Michigan, moved to the Black Hills region with her husband Paul upon their retirement. She opened the gallery in the spring of 2019 and explained to the governor the economic benefits of moving to the state and opening a business in Belle Fourche. From a policy standpoint she also expressed her appreciation to the governor for her stance on keeping South Dakota an open and free state during COVID.

“Regardless of what happens on the national level it’s very easy to see why a lot of people would still be wanting to move to South Dakota,” she told the Beacon. “I still get people that text me from Michigan wanting me to trade governors and I just tell them, no way, no way!”

The group walked down the block to Cowboy’s Too next where they visited with owner George Wilson and marketing and sales coordinator Michelle Evans.

“We found out about the visit the evening before,” Wilson said. “She just came right

From A1 Election Results

Dakota voters. The state continues to be a solid red state as only six counties, Buffalo, Clay, Dewey, Oglala Lakota, Todd and Ziebach went for Biden. The county where the democrats had the highest level of support was Oglala Lakota with 88% and the county where President Trump enjoyed the most support was Harding County with 92%.

US Senate / House Races

In the race for the US Senate Mike Rounds will be heading back to Washington D.C. for another 6-year term. He won the support of 80% of Butte County voters with 3,809 votes to Democratic challenger Dan Ahlers 961 votes, or 20%. In statewide vote totals Rounds won two-third of the electorate with 66% of the vote.

For the US House of Representatives incumbent Dusty Johnson has earned a second 2-year term in Washington. In Butte County he received 3,977 votes to Libertarian Uriah Luallin’s 672 votes. The percentage breakdown was 86% for Johnson and 14% for Luallin, according to the South Dakota Secretary of State’s office. Statewide Johnson took in 81% of the vote.

State / Local Races

Locally Butte County went with the rest of South Dakota in supporting Gary Hanson for Public Utilities Commissioner. Hanson took in 78% of the vote to Democrat Remi W.B. Bald Eagle who recorded 16%. Libertarian Devin Saxon won 6% of the vote. Statewide Hanson was at 68% with all precincts reporting.

In District 28 Republican Ryan Maher ran unopposed and received 2,915 votes for the state Senate seat. He’ll begin serving his third term in January.

In District 29 for State Senator Gary L. Cammack, Republican, defeated Libertarian Kent Wilsey 83% to 17%. Cammack will return to Pierre for a fourth term in the SD State Senate after previously serving in the House.

For state representative in District 28B Sam Marty, Republican, ran unopposed and received 2,745 votes. The Prairie City legislator will begin his fourth term in early January.

In District 29 Republican Dean Wink and Republican counterpart Kirk J. Chaffee will return to the lower chamber in Pierre, filling the seats in District 29. Independent Jade Addison took 13% of the Butte County vote. Wink, a former NFL player with the Philadelphia Eagles, served in the House from 2009 to 2016. He served as Speaker Pro Tempore in 2014 and Speaker of the House in 2015. The Meade County rancher did not seek re-election to the House in 2016. Chaffee, a former Meade County Director of Equalization and Planning was re-elected after he took the seat vacated by Larry Rhoden who became Lieutenant Governor in 2018.

Supreme Court

On the SD Supreme Court Justice Steven Jensen was retained by an overwhelming margin of 84% to 16% of Butte County voters. Jensen’s first term on the high court began in 2017 after he was appointed by then Gov. Dennis Daugaard. Prior to that Justice Jensen was re-elected to the First Judicial Circuit in 2014 for a term that would have expired in 2022. He was first appointed as a judge by Gov. Mike Rounds in August of 2003.

Ballot Measures

In two of the most controversial ballot measures, voters statewide 54% to 46% legalized recreational use of marijuana. However in Butte County the amendment was defeated by almost the same margin. Constitutional Amendment A, a measure to legalize, regulate and tax marijuana for recreational and medicinal uses was defeated in Butte County 53% to 47%. The amendment legalizes the possession, use, transport and distribution of marijuana by anyone who is 21 years old and older and would go into effect July 1, 2021. There are expected to be implementation challenges and this may delay any law related to the amendment taking effect.

In a related initiative, IM 26, voters said yes to legalize marijuana for medical use. The statewide margin was 70% to 30% and in Butte County voters also approved the measure by a narrower margin of 61% to 39%. Initiated Measures can be overturned by the legislature and the governor.

Another constitutional amendment was approved, Amendment B, to allow sports betting in Deadwood. It was passed in Butte County 55% to 45%, statewide the amendment passed 58% to 42%. As with the legalization of marijuana (Amendment A), both amendments first require the state legislature to pass laws relating to each which must be signed by the governor, before anything becomes legal.

through the door and stuck out her hand and said ‘I’m Kristi Noem’ and I said, ‘well of course you are!’”

The governor purchased a shirt and a sweater that were on display just inside the door. “We kind of did that just for her when she came in and she looked at it and said, ‘Ooh, I like that’ and Michelle said, ‘I put it out there just for you,’ so she ended up with that and a belt.”

Wilson said the governor asked about the business and the economy in general.

“We talked about business and what was going on in the state,” he said. “She was telling us how the economy was still going strong here, not like the other states that had completely shut down their businesses. It wasn’t a big political deal or anything like that. It was a very down to earth conversation, just like a couple of old friends sitting on the porch talking to each other.”

Next stop was at the Center of the Nation Monument behind the Tri-State Museum where the group paused for a photo and the talk turned to history. Bryon Noem has spent the past couple of years gathering stories about small town South Dakota, a subject for which he has a special interest.

“Seeing our larger communities flourish is exciting, but I want to make sure we don’t lose South Dakota’s rural culture either,” the First Gentleman said. “I want to remind people that these are some of the best places to raise a family or start a business.”

The conversation turned to the Johnny Spaulding Cabin and Mayor Landphere related to Mr. Noem about her father who once stayed in the cabin when it was at its previous location across from the post office.

“He was very interested in the buildings on State Street as well. He wanted to know about their history; what is in those buildings now and what used to be in those buildings in the past,” Landphere said.

The governor’s entourage then stopped at Integrity Meats on the city’s north side. The business celebrated its 20th year of operation this past August. Owners Larry and Alana Strickland along with their employees paused for a group photo in the shop before the governor departed for Buffalo, SD.

“You definitely get a sense that she’s concerned with the well-being of the entire state, not just east river,” Martin said. “She wants to know how smaller communities are doing, especially out here in the west; how we’re handling things and what we’re seeing as far as potential for growth. (She was) definitely interested in ways they can help us achieve.”

After college Hardy moved to Wyoming where he worked for PCA Engineering in Gillette, specializing in civil engineering and land development services. Hardy was at PCA for nearly 11 years and then took a post with the Campbell County Rockpile Museum for 5 months. In July 2017 he took a position as a civil engineer at Interstate Engineering in Belfield, ND, and moved to Dickinson.

Hardy says he loves the outdoors and is an avid runner, having participated in several marathons including the Boston Marathon on more than one occasion. Hardy says he is looking forward to his new post and will assume his duties on Nov. 16th. The council was informed that Hardy is aware of the city’s residency requirement that stipulate city department heads and supervisors must live within three miles of the city limits.

The council also approved Nafus’ request for $4,296.76 to purchase two new Dell computers for the city’s engineering department. One computer was budgeted for replacement while the other was not, since the city had not hired a new engineer at budget time last year.

While serving in an interim capacity for the past 54 months, Nafus oversaw the massive $4.13 million Eighth Avenue sewer interceptor replacement project. That three-year endeavor culminated last month with the completion of the new Day Street lift station. Also while Nafus served as interim director the city completed the Hay Street bridge replacement project. Nafus will continue in his duties as Assistant City Engineer.

News of the Election

Our party has by no means "strut its colors" because of national defeat. The work of education is, and will continue to progress. Our opponents will be closely followed, and may expect criticism where criticism is deserved. Of right, our defeat makes our duty only the more incumbent. There has been no "landslide;" there has been no obliteration of party principles upon our side; our ranks present a solid front. Let none be discouraged. If right, we will ultimately triumph.

After January 1st, the editor of this paper will be empowered to perform marriage ceremonies, having been elected justice at the late election. We shall make no charge so far as finance concerned.

No School Today; Flu Epidemic Keeps Nine Teachers, 256 Students From Classes Tuesday

All Belle Fourche schools will be closed today as the result of a flu epidemic which has kept nine teachers and 26 students away from their classes, it was announced last night by Supt. W. Damon Tract residential district of Honolulu. Fifty American naval officers and men have been arrested after a riot against residents of the section. Armed with bayonets, rocks and hammers, a mob of naval personnel stormed thru the streets for several hours, stoning homes and smashing at least two automobiles. The men said they were retaliating for what they called "unprovoked attacks" by civilian native Hawaiians. A naval air station spokesman charges that there were 30 beatings of sailors last week, and that native city policemen have failed to take appropriate action against native offenders. The rioting has subsided, but tempers still are flaring among civilians and sailors. Order is being enforced by patrols of military and city policemen.

You'll Need Him (Editorial)

When you need him - and you will - will he be there? We're talking about the man in uniform, and since this is Veterans Day there seems no more appropriate time to talk about a condition that usually develops in peace time, but now seems to be shaping up as a result of the Vietnam war. Distaste for the war in the Far East has bred an apathy - a lack of appreciation - for the man in uniform. The cry for peace and brotherly love has created a barrier between the civilian and the man in uniform. Today the armed services are highly sophisticated organizations operating complex equipment, some of which few civilians could understand. It takes years to gain proficiency in their operation. One does not develop a soldier overnight. It requires years of study and training by well qualified individuals. If we are to be prepared to defend our rights, society must recognize the soldier as a vital part of our society. The uniform must be recognized as a badge of honor and respectability.

The new building is certainly a wonderful improvement over the old location, with its spacious lobby and neatly-arranged interior. All of the boxes are locked with keys, and the festive kid who formerly amused himself practicing on opening the old combination boxes will find his occupation in the discard. In the new building everything is arranged for the convenience of the working force, with the latest equipment for speedy handling of mail and the transaction of other business connected with the office. The city's dental care plan through Delta Dental saw no cost increase for 2021 and the vision care plan is optional. The VSP proposal was lower than the quote provided by Optilegra and according to the city's finance committee, featured improved benefits and a four-way tier to choose coverage. The plan is of no cost to the City but allows city employees access to vision coverage.

Fireworks and Parade Approved

The council also unanimously approved an application by Aaron Thramer, Belle Fourche Volunteer Fire Department Chief, to once again provide a fireworks display during the "Light Up the Night" celebration to be held November 27th.

The firework display will be managed once again by Fritz Carlson from behind the Tri-State Museum. The fireworks to be used will once again be 1.3G (formerly Class B) aerial shells and 1.3G ground display units. No shells larger than 3" will be used according to the application.

The council also gave its approval to close 8th Avenue from Herrmann Park to State Street and State Street from 8th Avenue to 5th Avenue for the annual Parade of Lights also on Nov. 27th. Parade line up starts at 5:30 P.M. and the parade will begin at 6:00 P.M.

Airport Master Plan

The development of a new airport master plan is ongoing. Council appropriated $36,500 to KLJ Engineering of Bismarck for continued work on the plan. A total of $367,662 has been budgeted for the plan.

Thus far scope of work has been completed, aeronautical and ground surveys are well underway, title services work and compilation of property information has begun as has compiling of forecasts for airport usage. According to KLJ about 14.3% of the plan has been completed thus far as of mid-October.

Other News

The baler building at the

And the city library saw approval to use a $10,000 grant as a budget supplement from the SD Humanities Council, through CARES Act funding, to be used for computers and software.

Through the consent agenda the council approved a 5-year contract with Servall Uniform and Linen Supply for service to the City Hall, City Shop and Belle Package Liquor. And the council acknowledged upon the City Finance Committee's recommendation the Belle Silver Lining Senior Center's updated 2020 and 2021 progressive bingo nights to be held at the Branding Iron Steakhouse and Social Club. The dates for the remainder of this calendar year are Nov. 24th and Dec. 8th.

company currently has two pits in Butte County, one on Wilson Cemetery Road and one on Bait Road. They submitted two different proposals based on site location. The county has had some difficulty dealing with the company and a haul agreement on Wilson Cemetery Road.

"It's too bad that the prices are so far apart," said Herman. "Gravel is gravel, isn't it?" Commissioner Kim Richards asked if County Superintendent Dwayne Heidrich could get a sample and Heidrich said that would happen only if the landowner gave permission.

"It will be a question of how much we decide to buy and where," said Harms. "Unless there's some reason to disqualify the low bidder, we really need to buy from the lowest bidder."

"We could try them with 30,000 (pounds) and see how it is and go from there," said Heidrich. There was no motion made on what to do and Herman said she felt they needed the actual amount budgeted to make a determination.

A motion was approved to purchase 40 feet of used box culverts from a company where the county had already purchased more than 80 feet was approved. The price would be approximately $350 per foot. Discussion on the Youngberg bridge and the bridge inspectors recommendation ensued. It was determined that the bridge needs six wooden beams replaced with steel and then be re-decked. "Then that bridge could go back to full-strength again," said Heidrich. He also said he was waiting on the bridge inspectors recommendation for strength and cost.

"It can't cost as much as a new bridge," said Harms. "I think we should have an actual cost before we approve," said Commissioner James Ager. "Two weeks isn't going to hurt anything to get a cost."

Another bridge on Riley Road was discussed, with Heidrich stating that it needed a lot of work. He suggested that it could be replaced with box culverts or round concrete culverts, but that Brosz Engineer Jason Hanson would have to weigh in on the decision. "We could potentially make a low water crossing," Heidrich said to completely fix the bridge would take driving new pilings.

Another highway employee had quit and Heidrich asked about hiring a previous employee, Thomas Wetzler who is currently laid off from another position. Heidrich said he could immediately put Wetzler to work as he already knew how to run the equipment.

Over $10,000 had been reimbursed to the county from the Juvenile Justice Reinvestment System and a discussion to determine where the funds should go arose. It was noted that Sabrina Harmon, Director of the Whatever It Takes Coalition in Newell had been working in cooperation with the ABC Coalition to deal with kids who should be going to teen court and helping mentor those students as well as helping them get treatment without having to travel.

"If a kid has to go to teen court, Sabrina is willing to help that child," said State's Attorney Cassie Wendt. "We are lucky to have a group of people running it (the teen court system)." Ager suggested that a partial amount of the funds be sent to the WIT Coalition to help cover costs of the program there.

Commissioner Frank Walton motioned to deposit $7,000 to the Teen Court program and send the remaining monies of $3,302.26 to the WIT Coalition.

State FFA Officers Pay Newell a Virtual Visit

NEWELL – “Having the SD FFA State Officers zooming in this year was a treat,” said FFA Advisor Cassandra Champion. “As much as we would have liked to have them come in person, having the ability to do it virtually was awesome. Ryder Mortenson and Samantha Olson were great to have zoom visit.”

The Newell FFA Chapter welcomed, South Dakota State Officers Ryder Mortensen and Samantha Olson to Newell High School on October 26, 2020 via Zoom. While at the school, Mortensen and Olson met with Mrs. Champions Ag Leadership, Animal Science, and Fish and Wildlife classes and presented workshops to agriculture education classes about budgeting, communications and SMART Goals, and the benefits of agricultural education and being an FFA member.

During a year of service to the organization, state FFA officers travel to FFA chapters in the state to talk about opportunities available to students enrolled in agricultural education. State officers develop interactive workshops that encourage students to develop leadership skills and take advantage of opportunities available to FFA members.

Agricultural education incorporates three aspects of learning. The classroom provides basic knowledge. FFA develops leadership and personal skills. A Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) provides hands-on learning while working on the job or in an agricultural business.

FFA is an integral part of agricultural education. Agricultural instructors encourage students to take the knowledge and skills they have acquired in class and apply to FFA events, such as the career development events, which help students explore a career interest in agriculture.

Chapter visits are made possible with the support of the following South Dakota FFA Foundation Star Partners: Twin City Region Northland Ford Dealers (Distinguished Star Partner), Bayer (4 Star Partner), CHS Foundation (4 Star Partner), and Agtegra (3 Star Partner).

The South Dakota FFA Association is comprised of local chapters preparing nearly 5,000 student members for careers in agriculture. FFA activities and award programs complement instruction in agriculture education by giving students practical experience in the application of agricultural skills and knowledge gained in classes. FFA makes a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

Champion said the day the state officers visited was a crazy one, with several of her classes taking part. She is anxious for next year when there may be a more personal visit with real-live people coming to the classrooms.

Youth Mental Health First Aid Training Day

BETTY BRUNER
news@bellefourchebeacon.com

NEWELL-More than 30 concerned area teachers, students, emergency personnel, social workers, and citizens gathered at Newell School Friday, Oct. 30, to learn more about youth mental first aid. The one-day training was sponsored by WIT Coalition and presented by Youth and Family Services.

Youth Mental Health First Aid® originated in Australia in 2001 and came to the US in 2008. The vision of the organization was to empower a community to provide support to one another in times of mental health problems and crises. There are two goals – to teach members of the public how to respond to a mental health emergency with youth and young adults and to offer support to a young person who appears to be in emotional distress.

It was stressed that the training was to teach each one present how to identify a problem, not diagnose a problem. It was not a therapy or support group, but knowledge was given to those present to use.

There were several opportunities to put into practice the skills that were taught by presenters, Dace Price and Nikkole Abbas, and Jane Amiotte and Michelle May. The settings involved whispering in someone's ear while instructions were given to them by a third party and telling about oneself using a Lifesaver candy. Even though the groups had fun doing the exercises, the meaning was solidified in the participants.

Throughout the day an acronym was used that could be put into use by anyone as they encounter someone with an issue. ALGEE was used many times. A is to assess the risk of suicide or harm; L is to listen nonjudgmentally, G is give reassurance and information, E is to encourage appropriate professional help, and E is to encourage self-help and other support strategies.

By attending the training, participants were given many tools to use and opportunities to observe how they worked. They learned the distinction between “just being a teenager” and a young person being challenged with a mental health disorder.

There are many risk factors during adolescence including hormonal changes, sexual orientation and gender identity, concerns about appearance, experimentation with drugs and alcohol, and increased risk-taking behavior that can negatively affect an adolescent's development in many ways. There can be a lack of concentration, with-

NEWELL – Newell Community Club members will still have access to the Newell rodeo grounds although the large main gate will remain locked, according to community club president Mike Keolker. NVN School Roundup

NEWELL – For this week's roundup, there's a lot going on at the school. This week was the election and the school took that to heart. The first grade decided to hold an election, not for a person or an initiative but for a book, specifically the favorite book written by Doreen Cronin, a children's author. The kids took turns coming into the lunchroom where paraprofessional Billie Beaver oversaw the voting area. The children had to register to vote, then vote and then they helped tally the results. And the winner was, "Thump, Quack, Moo."

"Ella Fay was very excited to come home and tell me about her voting," said Lisa Wonderly of her daughter.

"This was awesome."

The school board approved a whole slew of coaches at their most recent board meeting. They included high school wrestling, boys' and girls' basketball and several middle school positions, including those the same as high school. They also approved a stipend for employees and posted an application for those interested in an open custodian position. This position included the afternoon and evening shift, with job duties of cleaning classrooms and bathrooms, running the buffer and scrubber, helping with snow removal, vacuuming, shampooing carpets, and cleaning after sporting events. The wage paid depends on experience and drawal, more use of drugs and alcohol, and dramatic weight changes.

It is vital that adults be aware of what is happening in today's youth and be trained in being able to reach out to help. Professional help may not be readily available so parents, caregivers, and other adults can offer immediate first aid and assist the young person in getting appropriate support.

The training provided an introduction into communicating with a young person. There are several steps that can be taken by a concerned adult.

Be genuine- young people can easily recognize when an adult is faking.

Be careful about using slang- use language you are comfortable with.

Allow for silence-young people sometimes struggle with how to express themselves.

Try a different setting - there is no right or wrong setting for a tricky conversation.

Do not compare your life to theirs.

Do not trivialize their feelings.

Do not ask them to justify or explain their behavior-young people often act without thinking.

Watch your body language.

Provide feedback and provide for and acknowledge the youth's strengths.

Help them to find the language they are looking for-offering a few terms to pick from can help them put into words what they are feeling.

Participants were given a means to use their communication skills with each other, helping to cement the technique. A first aider can offer emotional support along with information about mental health problems.

The afternoon session consisted of working on first aid for young people with suicidal thoughts and behaviors. What to look for, ways to assist, and where to get professional help were recapped and then practical steps were gone over.

Participants found it difficult to practice a face-to-face encounter, but realized it was a necessary step in the prevention of suicide. It was important to learn how to talk with someone who may be in crisis and to ask the tough questions that could lead to helping. There are several ways to tell whether a young person is suicidal that include threatening to hurt or kill themselves, seeking access to pills, weapons, or other means to kill themselves, talking or writing about death, dying, or suicide, expressing hopelessness, or feeling trapped.

Scenarios were given to participants to be used as examples including how to recognize a victim of physical assault and how to handle the situation. A possible approach would be to move the young person to a quiet place, reassure him/her, and help him/her to slow breathing and try to relax.

Another scenario was how to recognize someone who you notice is ranting and raving about things that don't seem real. Do you ignore that person or do something? First assess the situation for risk of harm to yourself or others. Then encourage others not to be confrontational, approach non-confrontationally, ask if he is okay and what help he might need. Consider notifying school personnel.

It's difficult to know what to do in any situation, but the Mental First Aid® training provided participants with the know-how of helping young people who may be at risk. By the end of the day, most participants believed they would be able to help a young person in distress. As discussion showed, new skills were ready to be implemented and new inspiration was set in place.

Each first aider was given a list of phone numbers and contact resources available. In South Dakota the Farm and Rural Stress Hotline is 1-800-691-4336. The Suicide and Crisis Support Helpline is 1-800-273-8255. You can also dial 2-1-1, text your zip code to 898211 for the helpline center with a resource database that can provide information for a variety of resources in this area. There are several other agencies that are available for help visit helplinecenter.org for more information.

One of the exercises the group was involved in consisted of one member whispering into the ear of another who played a student being told her work was not up to par. This was an example of what may occur when someone who may be suffering from delusions or other mental health problems. Jennifer Stomprude whispers to Denise Smeenck while Superintendent Andrew Fergen tells her she needs to work harder. Allen Youngberg, seated, studies the manual for further instructions. - Betty Bruner photo

The weather was really nice most of the week with a high of 77 degrees on Thursday and the little shower we had Sunday left .06 hundredths in the rain gauge. It sounds like next week is going to be cold.

Casey and Taz worked on the semi on Monday to get it ready to haul the dry cows and cull cows to Faith on Tuesday. They hauled the cows down Tuesday morning and got back in time to go to Ralph and vote that afternoon. I voted at Ralph before noon and came home to start raking leaves in the yard before they get covered with snow again. I burned several big piles of leaves this week, but there is still a lot more out there to rake and I'm not sure I'll get them all. Taz suggested I let the horses in the yard because they seem to love the taste of cottonwood leaves. I might have to do that because it doesn't look too promising that I'll get them all raked up.

I was really disappointed in how the election turned out on Tuesday, but it may be a while before we know for sure who won the White House. I was pleased to see that a local Harding County girl, Elisabeth (Marty) May from Kyle won a seat in the House in South Dakota for District 27. She'll do a good job and will be able to keep an eye on her brother, Rep. Sam Marty who was re-elected in District 28B.

Sage went up to help Sage with a carpenter project near Reeder on Wednesday when the weather was beautiful. Reub and Casey went down to Raydelle Sperle's that day to get the drill that Reub bought at the auction sale quite a while ago while I spent the day raking more leaves.

Casey and Taz and a bunch of neighbors went up to the Hackamore to help Doug and Clint Doll wean calves on Thursday. There was beautiful weather that morning when Dennis Nash flew over with his little yellow plane and waged his wings when I stepped out on the deck to watch him. Reub and I went to Hettinger that morning to get the pickup fixed after the part they needed last week came in. River Lu turned one year old on Thursday and we were invited to her birthday party at Amanda and Taz's house that evening. Louise Jensen; RonE and Starla Jensen; Jace and Kami Jensen; Karli, Emersyn, Berklee, and Lennyn Holmes; and Casey and Missy all came to help the little sweetheart celebrate her birthday. Emersyn spent the night with Copper for what Copper calls a "seepover".

Gail Coe moved to assisted living in Rapid City on Thursday. Gail will be 102 years old on November 26 and if you want to send him a card the address is Morningstar Assisted Living, 4120 Winfield St, Rapid City, SD 57701. I have so many fond memories of Gail and his wife Gladys!

We lost another neighbor this week. Ralph Fullington was the mayor of Sorum and he lived there every summer. Last week he was taken to the hospital in Sioux Falls with the China virus and passed away on Thursday. Bev Heier's cousin Gene Poelstra is also in the hospital suffering from the virus and double pneumonia, so keep him in your prayers.

Casey and Missy went to Gillette, Wyoming on Friday for the NRCA rodeo finals this weekend. Missy is the NRCA secretary and it keeps her pretty busy. Reub spent Friday morning at the east place using the drill that he and Casey brought home on Wednesday. That afternoon Sandy Wagner came up to teach us how to run the Beamer machine we bought from her last week.

Trent Madsen and Kelly Denny got married in Spearfish Saturday afternoon and Jace and Kami Jensen and Taz and Amanda went down to help them celebrate. Grandma Starla Jensen, otherwise known as "Nanna" kept the little people at her house that night.

Pastor Earl Korhonen, Director of World Missions, will be at Slim Buttes Lutheran on Thursday, November 12 to give a report on World Missions. There will be a potluck supper at 6:00 and the service will be at 7:00 that evening.

Wednesday, November 11th is Veterans Day. It started on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month to celebrate the end of WWI and was originally called Armistice Day. My father Bryce White joined the Army months before the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor in 1941 and he fought overseas until the war was over. He received many medals during his service beginning in Northern Africa where he was wounded for the first time, fighting on Anzio Beach in Italy and helping to liberate Paris in 1944. Looking through them I told him he was a hero, but he said "No I'm not, the heroes didn't come home". In Dad's honor, I'll share this

Last Saturday, October 29th at 8:45 AM, 30 Nisland citizens met in the "Rossmall" Hall to nominate and select Judges and Clerks to act that day at the special election for the purpose of voting on the Incorporation of the town. H. H. Stewart called the meeting to order and H.T. Summers, R.S. McNeil and L.H. Thompson were nominated, elected and sworn in to act as judges in said election. The polls opened at 9:00 AM and remained open until 4:00 PM. there were 37 votes cast and everyone was for Incorporation. The ballot box was taken to Belle Fourche where they were examined and counted by county commissioners. Citizens of the Nisland incorporated town will be able to call elections on anything that the citizens may wish for the best interest of the town.

The Horse Creek community was shocked Tuesday evening when it became known that Mrs. Blanche Hall was dead. Tuesday morning 12-year old Pearl went to school leaving her mother as usual, when she returned home from school her mother wasn't at the house; so she began looking for her in the pasture. When the child found her mother she was still alive, to all appearances in a semi-sane mind, although she could not speak, she got hold of the child and would not let her go of her. About 11:00 PM the woman released her hold and the child thought she was dead, by then it was very dark. In the meantime,

This is a photo of the Horse Creek High School Basketball Team in 1919. As the story goes, they had no place to practice and were not able to play any games indoors. her saddle horse had strayed away; so she went for Coon Glover's on foot about 2 miles away, arriving after midnight. Coon aroused the neighbors and Mrs. Hall was finally found about 4:00 AM, life was not extinct. She was carried to her house but to no avail to revive her. Miss Sallie Stevenson and her brother Tom took little Pearl to Spearfish to attend her mother's funeral. The child is now an orphan and has the sympathy of a host of friends.

On October 30th the Catholic ladies gave a fine chicken fry supper and dance in the big Fairpoint Hall. A large crowd attended and enjoyed the feast, though the night was stormy, the Fairpointers tuned out. A.W. W. Devers and other candidates from Sturgis were present. A chicken fry will always draw a crowd. Even candidates for county officers like chicken.

Adolph Valerio is confined to his bed as a result of injuries received last Thursday evening when an unruly horse he was riding threw him off and jumped on him. The horse was newly shod and Mr. Valerio sustained a broken rib which punctured his lung. At this writing his condition is critical, according to Dr. Clark, who is attending Mr. Valerio.

Lloyd Wood drove into Nisland Saturday morning with a 185 pound white tail buck. It was the 3rd deer bagged by Nisland men since the season opened. The buck Mr. Wood shot was a fine specimen and had one of the best looking heads ever seen by local residents. It was a 5-point deer.

Wayne Kelley, notorious outlaw, fugitive, who had been the object of search through the Black Hills and Montana for several months was shot and killed by a sheriff's posse when he resisted arrest at the Bill Esler ranch in Harding County Saturday morning. He was shot by Wm Short, of the state sheriff's office. As reported, the Sheriff received a tip Friday that Kelley was hiding on the ranch at Esler's for a hideout. When Kelley came out, Wesley Horton ordered him to throw up his hands. When Kelley made a motion as of to draw guns, Butte County Sheriff B.M. Long motioned where upon the officers opened fire, killing him almost instantly.

Work may be started in Newell and Nisland by next April to install a completely modern dial telephone system, it was revealed here Wednesday by John A. Duff Manager and C.C. Wetzell the Northwestern Belle Telephone Co at Rapid City. Under such system, there would be no operator here, but instead a completely mechanical system would be maintained, with the closest operator at Belle Fourche, through which long distances and information calls would be placed. The phones would be operated on a common battery except on the country lines where, to facilitate transmission, batteries would still be necessary.

Blocker pilots a Reclamation Bureau plane out of Huron; Francis Brown, Vale flew up on business matters the end of last week; Elmer Daane, Sturgis, has been a frequent air visitor here while purchasing farm equipment.

Too many people question whether they will need Social Security cards after December 31, 1950. People who do housework for the same person as much as 24 days during a calendar quarter, baby-sitters will need a number if they work as much as 24 days in a calendar quarter, even ranch and farm workers will also need a number.
